U.N. Steers Neutral Path In Katanga

Swedish Unit Stays Out Of Police Fray With Congo Rioters

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Police used tear gas today to break up street demonstrations against Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe. U.N. soldiers, pledged to political neutrality, looked the other way.

The Swedish U.N. force was out on the first day of patrol in Elisabethville after taking over guard duties from Belgian soldiers who had lent support to Tshombe's demands for independence from Premier Patrice Lumumba's central government in Leopoldville.

After arrival of the U.N. force last weekend, Tshombe's police began moving around the city, throwing tear gas bombs whenever large groups refused to disperse. Members of the opposition Cartel party were arrested but later released after paying a fine equivalent to a dollar.

This morning a large crowd of young Africans gathered in Elisabethville's main square in front of the post office.

Police rode up and began throwing tear gas bombs. An armored car rolled into the square.

The U.N. soldiers continued marching on their guard posts, looking off in the distance.

Responsibility for order in Elisabethville, the provincial capital, was officially handed over to the United Nations Sunday by Belgian soldiers in a tearful ceremony. More U.N. soldiers were on their way to replace Belgian forces in the province.

The Belgians were withdrawing to their big military base at Kamina, 300 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

Among the troops heading to Elisabethville under the U.N. banner were Ethiopians flying from Addis Ababa, Mali Federation soldiers traveling by train from neighboring Kivu province, some Moroccans and more Swedes. A U.N. officer said this would bring the total to about three battalions to replace the 4,000 Belgian soldiers whose presence in Katanga has been a major factor in averting a mass flight of the whites who run the rich province's mines and plantations.

The dispatch of African U.N. troops to Katanga was intended to quiet criticism by Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, who assailed U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld for starting the Katanga operation with white troops instead of Africans.

But the choice of soldiers from Ethiopia, Mali and Moroccans was unlikely to appease Lumumba. He wants troops sent in from Ghana and Guinea, whose Presidents Kwame Nkrumah and Sekou Toure are backing his demands that Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe's secessionist regime submit to his authority. Tshombe is adamantly opposed to admitting troops from those countries.

Hammarskjöld left Elisabethville Sunday and flew to Kamina, en route to Leopoldville.

In the Congo capital there was speculation Lumumba might go back to the Security Council because of Hammarskjöld's refusal to use U.N. troops to override the Katanga regime's defiance of the central government's authority. The Congo premier has persistently ignored the Security Council's injunction that U.N. forces stand aloof from the country's internal political conflicts.

Awaits Moscow Trial

Wife Of U2 Pilot Terms His Duties As 'Scout, Not Spy'

MOSCOW (AP) — Attractive, dark-haired Barbara Powers said Sunday that since it was a matter of record her husband had piloted the ill-fated U2 jet, it was "normal" for him to plead guilty to Soviet charges of espionage.

Mrs. Powers and the mother and father of Francis Gary Powers arrived Saturday for the espionage trial of the American pilot, which begins Wednesday in Moscow. Powers was shot down 1,400 miles inside Soviet territory May 1 while piloting his reconnaissance jet high over the Soviet Union.

Despite her husband's guilty plea, Barbara told a news conference he should not be called a spy.

"I look upon him as a reconnaissance scout," she said, "and he shouldn't be labeled a spy. He never disguised; he never pretended to be what he wasn't."

Although it admitted the Powers family to the Soviet Union for the trial, the Soviet government has told the U.S. Embassy no Americans would be allowed to see the pilot before his trial. Barbara also said she had no word yet on her request to see Premier Nikita Khrushchev to make a personal appeal.

The pilot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., and Barbara talked Sunday with U.S. Minister-Counselor Edward L. Freers at the embassy.

The pilot's wife told newsmen afterward she still felt "the State Department could be doing a little more. But I appreciate everything they have been able to do."

Castro Takes Over Another U.S. Industry

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro regime has taken over the Freeport Sulphur Company's 75-million-dollar nickel and cobalt plant in Cuba. The American-owned plant has been idle since March, when the government put a heavy export tax on its output.

Announcement Sunday of government intervention of Freeport's Moa Bay Mining Co. heightened fears in private business circles concerning the fate of 75 million dollars worth of other American mining properties still under private management.

President Osvaldo Dorticos announced the intervention—which can mean anything from token supervision to outright control—but gave no reason. It was expected, however, the government eventually would say it had taken over the plant to protect workers' jobs, claiming the management had abandoned it.

In New York, the Freeport company said it would take all possible steps under Cuban and international law to protect its legal rights.

The action against the Moa Bay company came a week after a government decree nationalizing more than 700 million dollars worth of other American-owned properties in Cuba.

Moa Bay is the largest privately owned mining enterprise in Cuba. Started in 1957, it was not fully completed last March when officials of the company said they could not continue operations because of a new 25 per cent tax on the gross value of the plant's product regardless of income.

Moa Bay employed about 3,200 workers—most of them Cubans. When finished it was to turn out 50 million pounds of nickel and almost 4½ million pounds of cobalt annually.

Chief among the other American-owned mining properties is the Nicaro nickel plant, which was built by the U.S. government. Representatives of the U.S. General Services Administration and the Castro regime are still discussing sale of the plant to Cuba.

Other American investments still untouched by the Cuban government include an estimated 150 million dollars worth of insurance, pharmaceutical, rubber and aluminum companies, and about 50 million dollars in banks and airlines.

Intermediary Paves Way

Merical Ends Flight And Surrenders At City Police Station

Friend Sets Up Arrest Of Fugitive

Beaver Authorities Take Ex-Wellsville Man On Rape Charge

Relentless pursuit ended today for Thomas C. Merical, 30, Beaver County steelworker sought since Wednesday for the alleged criminal assault of his young stepdaughter.

He surrendered meekly at the city police station about 1:15 p. m. after the way had been paved through an intermediary.

Jack Haddox, a friend of the family, accompanied the fugitive to the station, where he was whisked away by relieved Beaver County authorities.

And police of Tri-State communities, sheriff's deputies, detectives and state patrol officers also breathed a sigh of relief—they can catch up on sleep lost the past several nights in futile searches for the self-styled "bad man."

Besides the criminal assault complaint, he now faces an assortment of charges as the result of the biggest manhunt in this area in years.

He waived extradition for return to Pennsylvania, apparently glad to give up the role of hunted animal for the comparative safety of a jail cell after chancing his life numerous times while pursued.

Merical became the object of an intensive hunt in the Tri-State District after he fled a rain of bullets in escaping from his home when authorities sought to arrest him the afternoon his wife filed the complaint of criminal assault.

She had the warrant issued Wednesday morning and deputies went to his home but found him gone.

They returned to the Courthouse for Mrs. Merical so they could be let into the home to confiscate a quantity of guns she said he had cached on a bed.

They departed with three rifles and a shotgun, a .45 revolver and several hundred rounds of ammunition and left two deputies as lookouts.

Merical returned shortly and the lookouts alerted officers, who converged on the rural home, half the group going to the back and the others to the front.

Merical descended the front steps. Police Chief Vernon Hayes, who had parked his car in the driveway to block Merical's, got out and called to Merical that he wanted to talk to him.

Merical without hesitation jumped into his waiting car, tried to hit Hayes then raced out of the driveway before officers could reach a vantage point to fire.

Hayes, however, fired two shots, blasting the rear window of the escape car.

Sheriff John Hineman and probation officers gave chase, the pursuit reaching 85 miles an hour at times. They lacked car radios and could not flash the alert ahead for roadblocks.

Merical led his pursuers up the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. to Calcutta, where his trail was lost. He had raced on past Calcutta to Glenmoor and out Rt. 45, making good his getaway.

Police, the State Highway Patrol and the Columbiana County sheriff's office meanwhile had been alerted by the Beaver County sheriff's office but their roadblocks were futile.

Merical had become "too hot" and brief stops at homes of relatives and phone calls to friends were quickly reported to authorities.

He apparently stopped later at a relative's home in Calcutta to change his bloody shirt for a clean one—he had been knicked either by broken glass or a glancing bullet in the getaway.

Police said he has a record of offenses in Wellsville, Midland Heights and in East Liverpool.

DEATH CAR. A Pittsburgh teenager, William Doll, 16, was killed when this 1958 convertible smashed into a tree on Route 7, south of Rogers, early this morning. The car was so crushed it could not be moved on its wheels but was hauled away in a carryall.

A 16-year-old driver from Pittsburgh was killed and his 18-year-old companion injured when their 1958 convertible smashed into a tree on Route 7 just south of Rogers early this morning, the State Highway Patrol reported.

It was the 18th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year as compared to 22 in 1959.

Two other teenage drivers were cited by the patrol after wrecking their cars early Sunday, and a Calcutta area driver was charged after a mishap with an East Liverpool man's auto Sunday afternoon.

Killed in the high speed crash at 1:15 a. m. today, two-tenths of a mile south of Rogers, was William Doll, who resided part of each year near East Palestine.

The youth was pronounced dead at Salem City Hospital of a broken neck, head lacerations and body injuries, the patrol reported.

His companion, Arthur Arnold, 18, also of Pittsburgh, is in the Salem hospital with abrasions and bruises of the entire body, the patrol said.

The patrol said young Doll was headed north at a high rate of speed when he lost control of the convertible, went to the left side of the road and struck the tree.

Witnesses said the car was so badly smashed that it had to be lifted onto a flat bed trailer so it could be hauled away.

The youth was born Nov. 1, 1943, in Salem, the son of Paul Doll of East Palestine R. D. 1, with whom he lived in the summer, and Mrs. Ruth Justison Doll of Pittsburgh, where he resided in the winter.

He was a student in the Pittsburgh school system and would have been in the 11th grade this fall. During the summer he worked with his father as a bricklayer.

He was a member of the East Palestine Church of the Nazarene. The Oliver Funeral Home in East Palestine is arranging services.

Robert Sier, 16, of Strattonville, Pa., was cited into Juvenile Court for driving left of center after losing control of his auto, which plunged into a ditch on Township Rd. 852, southwest of Salem, at 1 a. m. Sunday. Sier was not hurt, the patrol said.

Daniel Taylor, 19, of Taylor Ave., New Waterford, was charged with driving left of center after he fell asleep at the wheel of his car at 4:55 a. m. Sunday on Route 46 near Columbiana.

When Taylor dozed, the car went left of center and struck a culvert, causing extensive damage, the patrol said.

Charles McElwee, 58, of R. D. 2 also was charged with driving left of center after his car went left of center on a curve struck a car operated by Thomas Heverly, 41, of Gardendale at 5:30 p. m. Sunday on Township Rd. 1041 in the Calcutta area, the patrol said.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash At Lisbon

LISBON — Edwin Shump, 30, of Sandusky is in "fair" condition at Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered when his motorcycle was hit broadside by an auto at the intersection of Pine and N. Market Sts. at 1:20 a. m. Sunday.

Shump ignored the stop sign and was hit by the car driven by William Ridfern Jr., 18, of Beaver Falls, owned by Robert Rogers of Lisbon R. D. 1. It received minor damages, police said.

Shump received a lacerated head and face, broken nose and possible concussion.

Cited by police for failing to yield the right-of-way, he will get a hearing when released from the hospital.

Canoe Trip Launched Here Ends In Drowning

Archibald J. Medicus, 68, of Poland, near Youngstown, built a canoe and launched it at the East Liverpool Wharf July 21. He headed south for a trip on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

His body was found Saturday, floating in the Ohio off Warsaw, Ind., where he apparently drowned while shooting the rapids near the Indiana community between Cincinnati and Louisville, Ky.

Funeral services for the retired plumber, who had made such a canoe trip a number of years ago, were held this morning at the Holy Family Catholic Church at Poland with burial there.

Hit-Skip Car Sought After Woman's Hurt

Chester Victim Left Lying Under Parked Car In City Mishap

Police today are searching for a hit-skip driver, whose car ran down a Chester area woman early Sunday while she was crossing W. 8th St. at Dresden Ave.

Mrs. Evelyn Crabtree, 43, of Chester R. D. 1 is in "fair" condition at the Osteopathic Hospital with injuries received when she said she was hit and thrown under a parked car.

The hospital said she has a possible neck injury, contusions and superficial lacerations of the scalp, and contusions and abrasions of the elbow.

The only description Mrs. Crabtree was able to furnish police was that "a big, black car" struck her.

She told officers she was crossing W. 8th St. when the car headed north onto Dresden Ave. cut onto W. 8th St. at a high rate of speed, striking her and knocking her under the parked auto.

The driver continued down W. 8th St. without stopping, she said.

A young cyclist apparently escaped injury when he ran his bike into the front of her car, Mary P. Oliver, 741 Daisy Ln., reported to police Saturday night.

The woman said she had stopped at the intersection of Moore and Claiborne Sts. when the boy, identified as Howard Hinton, rode his bike into the front of her auto.

She told officers the boy said he wasn't hurt and walked away.

A collision Sunday morning at Dresden Ave. and W. 9th St. damaged cars operated by Robert E. Broadbent, 20, of 1013 Locust St. and Paul James Maley, 23, of 343 E. 9th St., police said.

Broadbent was fined $5 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge of crashing a traffic signal. A parked car owned by Freda F. Sloan, 306 W. 5th St., was damaged Sunday night on W. 5th St. when struck by a car operated by Carl E. Ervin, 66, of 400 Monroe St.

Mrs. Sloan gave police a description of the car, telling officers the driver turned south toward W. 4th St. An unidentified man gave Mrs. Sloan the license number of the car, which police identified as Ervin's.

Woman Suffers Gun Wound At Wellsville

An elderly Wellsville widow is in "poor" condition today in the Osteopathic Hospital with a bullet wound police said she reported was accidental.

Mrs. Bertha Hughes, 66, of 1822 Buckeye Ave., suffered a wound of the upper right chest from a .22-caliber pistol.

She was admitted to the hospital Saturday afternoon at 4 after calling a physician to her home. She was listed in "critical" condition over the weekend but the hospital said she had improved slightly. The doctor called police.

Mrs. Hughes lives alone and had registered the new pistol with the Wellsville Police Department, Aug. 8. Police, who are continuing an investigation, said she retained the pistol for personal protection.

Goodyear, Union End Akron Plant's Walkout

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Goodyear Aircraft Corp. and United Auto Workers Local 856 today reached an agreement to end a strike of 2,300 workers at the company's Akron plant. The walkout started Saturday.

Dan Coddington, president of Local 856, said he would call a special membership meeting of the union tomorrow to vote on the agreement, which followed an around-the-clock negotiating session in the office of B. F. O'Brien, federal mediator.

Terms of the agreement were not given, but it replaces a contract which expired Aug. 5.

Powers Trial An Anti-Climax

Before the trial of Francis Gary Powers gets under way in Moscow, Americans owe it to him, his wife, his mother and father and to themselves to understand what is going to happen.

The Russians hold not only the high cards but the deck. Their indictment shows they know everything there is to know about Powers, his airplane and what he was doing. They have obtained from the young pilot, himself, all the details needed to back up their case against him as an alleged spy who violated their borders.

They have promised a full confession, and there is no reason to doubt their promise. They have held Powers since the beginning of May, much longer than the time needed to brainwash him. Their mastery of this technique, which one of their great scientists developed with his historic experiments on setting up conditioned reflexes in dogs, is complete.

They have proved it many times, beginning in the great purge trials of the '30s when high Russian officials hobbled any confession that suited the needs of the prosecution. They proved it in 1951 in the trial of William Oatis, U.S. newspaperman accused of activities hostile to Czechoslovakia. Oatis said what his captors wanted him to say. Hundreds of U.S. prisoners of the Red Chinese in the Korean War became parrots under the "tutelage" of instructors schooled in the Pavlov methods of proving that people can be "trained" as handily as dogs if their masters know how to teach them.

The Powers trial will be a propaganda show, and there is nothing the United States can do to make it anything else. This has been the jolting tragedy of the U2 incident. Never before have Americans realized more painfully what it feels like to be unable to break out of a corner in which they have been penned by circumstances they couldn't control.

Hence the wild, foolish and irresponsible things that have been said about the U2 incident. They shouldn't be duplicated when the Powers trial begins this week. The Russians are about to put on one of their characteristic mockeries. Americans should show their contempt by their silence.

They cannot save Francis Powers from the fate that already has been decreed for him by his Russian captors. But they can save their dignity, which they almost kicked away last May with a spatter of foolish comment.

Behind The Scenes

It's fair time again in the district, with at least one such event having been completed and others in preparation.

The annual Columbiana County exposition Aug. 23-27 will climax the activities.

Fairs have a wide appeal, with their varied displays, entertainment, races and other forms of amusement. But amid all the glamor and excitement, the hard work that goes into making them a success often is forgotten.

Such events don't just happen. They are the result instead of proper planning by committees who labor often far into the night, night after night. And like other endeavors, fairs have their budget problems to complicate matters. But all in all, they are exhilarating events which over the years have become an enjoyable part of community life.

So, a salute to those who work so diligently both behind the scenes before the doors open and on the scene after the curtain has gone up. May sunny days and star-studded skies smile on their efforts.

Parkinson's Law Covers It

Congress did not need an extra three weeks in August to wrap up what very well could have been wrapped up early in June.

Moreover, Congress has no firm intention of wrapping up anything in August; it is marking time for the convenience of a pair of Democratic senators who are the presidential and vice-presidential nominees of their party.

If it had any real work to do or any inclination to do any real work, it would be going about this tag-end session differently. What it is doing is an example of the kind of legislative dilly-dallying that hurts representative government more than it is comfortable to admit.

This is why.

Representative government depends on popular understanding of what is proposed, what is said during debate and what finally is decided. When legislative bodies stall, dilly-dally, wheel and deal, back and fill, act and reconsider and put off till week after next what they could have done the day before yesterday, they create so much public confusion that people lose track of what is going on. They get the idea that nothing is going on, just as they get the idea that a glacier isn't moving because they can't detect any movement.

When The Living Is Easy

"Summertime, when the living is easy. . . . When a prudent gardener can nip out to the corn patch and carry back an armful of prime sweets, to be popped into a pot, or roasted as "roasting ears" used to be;

When the carrots are crisp and crunchy, the baby beets are ready to give their lives for the improvement of mankind, the snap beans are just right for snapping in the shade of a tree and the tomatoes are bursting with their exuberant goodness;

And peaches with the bloom of youth on their unshaven skins are ready to spread gladness and peach juice, the early transplants have fulfilled their destiny of pie-filling and applesauce making and the first melons and cucumbers have challenged the digestive flexibility of the human body. . . .

There is all this and much more — plums, chard, beet greens, peppers and the prospect of pendulous bunches of grapes. Life is luxury against a backdrop of gladiolus, a cup that runneth over flavored with essence of nasturtium and rose.

Now in fever come the perfect days that so rarely show up in June . . . now, when the living is easy and abundant and full of the flavor of summer.

Hollywood (take a deep breath) is to turn out a TV series on "The Real West," giving a more honest picture of what it was like. Gary Cooper will narrate. Three cheers for the idea. Bunk and baloney content of TV Westerns has been pretty awful, with caricatures made of really true heroes of frontier. Bat Masterson, for example, as a cane swinging dandy, is a complete distortion that must make Bat turn in his grave. And what they have done to the quiet, calm non-spectacular Wyatt Earp is a crime. This is true of most of the famed town marshals and their techniques, all of which would have made bumptious comics anywhere in the wild and woolly country.

With TV ratings all in, both party conventions are now admitted to be TV Flop of Year. Even fans who could stand soap operas, roller derbies and old Keystone movies switched out early. Both parties thought they were staging sessions with TV appeal, but produced shows so dull they will go into history as first conventions to make "commercials" look good.

The TV debate between Nixon and Kennedy may be the most gripping TV show since the "Battle at the O. K. Corral." With both battling for the White House, the program could be called "This Is Your Life or Death."

It can have elements of heavyweight championship brawl, crucial baseball series and epic rumput between Jack Paar and his boss. This could call for scorecards, referees and instructions, "In case of a knockdown go to a neutral corner, and protect yourself in the clinches."

During 1959, there were 49 executions carried out by civil authorities in the United States.

Red Sabotage Predicted For U.S.

By Victor Riesel

PARIS In the files of Western counter-intelligence agents here there are monitorings of international phone calls placed to V29500 Moscow. At that number sits Victor V. Grishin. He was, however, not there at the end of May and in the early weeks of June. He was in Peiping calling for riotous destruction and crippling strikes against the United States and its allies.

Within a few hours, riots turned the streets of big European cities slippery with blood.

Communities were paralyzed when garbage collectors, airfield employees and even scientists controlled by Communist cadres struck hard. There were no such strikes in the United States because there are only four influential Communist-controlled American unions. But there will be sabotage. This is a flat prediction. There will be sabotage.

COMRADE GRISHIN'S words are never ignored. For he is the Soviet's top union official — chairman of the All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions. Shortly after Premier Khrushchev returned from his dramatic performance here — which should really have been housed at the Sarah Bernhard Theater — Grishin was directed to launch a new era of street violence. Soon he was on his way to Peiping. There he conferred with global Communist leaders gathered for what is called the General Council of the World Federation of Trade Unions.

"We consider it an international responsibility," said Grishin, "of the working people and trade unions to wage a struggle by all means to eliminate the U.S. military bases built on the territory of other countries. . . ."

"The most important task of the trade union movement is to exert every effort to expose to the working people the barbarous characteristics of the imperialist aggressors and to organize mass action by the working people, including demonstrations, mass rallies and meetings to defend peace. . . ."

"The task of the trade unions is to strengthen greatly counter-propaganda, to expose the imperialists and to tell the working people all the dangers of the adventurist policy of the imperialists. . . ."

To Main Street, U.S.A., this is jabberwocky. To the Communist controlled unions in the Red belts of Western cities, it is a call to street action, the tactics of Tokyo, the manning of street barricades. The lethal horror of this is truly known only to those of us who have experienced it.

This is the rising of underground "armies." They are the trade union cadres, trained, drilled, equipped, disciplined storm troops of Communist unions.

They are the revolutionary forces on which Moscow counts to topple governments. It saves the wear and tear and the public embarrassment of an official military invasion. It happened in Czechoslovakia. It is happening in Cuba.

WITHIN A WEEK after Khrushchev reported to the Russian Central Committee and it instructed Grishin to pass on word to the regional Communist labor chiefs, the drive started against Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Between May 31 and July 4, for example, there were 10 major strikes.

First the railroads were hit when 300,000 men quit. This was the first industrywide walkout since De Gaulle took office. Then out went tens of thousands of government employees. No garbage was collected. Communications were cut. Flash strikes hit the buses and subways.

Soon 100,000 construction workers hit the bricks. Then most of the chemical plants in Paris and the southern France area, were shut. Next the airports and the rolling strikes rolled on.

In Italy, the labor cadres of Agostino Novello's General Confederation of Workers (CGT) were put on the alert. When Communist party chief Palmiro Togliatti winged in from Moscow early in July, he alerted Comrade Longo's professional Communist underground army.

Soon riotous general strikes were injuring from 50 to 200 persons in Italy's big cities.

The tactic is simple. The CGT calls a general strike. The regular underground Communist troops, in civilian clothes, of course, form around the labor cadres. Then they hit the streets and battle with the police.

The price of peaceful streets and a truce in the revolutionary pressure is governmental anti-Americanism.

Since the Communists can't get that, they'll bloody the streets, bomb the opposition and sabotage our defenses in Europe and back home. The era of Stalin's violence is back again.

Social Security In U. S.

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON The Social Security Act is just 25 years old but it has taken a long time — most of American history — for the government to accept much responsibility for the individual welfare of its citizens.

The idea is still being fought.

The Constitution says "We, the people . . . in order to form a more perfect union . . . promote the general welfare . . . do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

What did "general welfare" mean? Did it include the general welfare of individual persons?

James Madison, called the father of the Constitution and one of the signers, said later the welfare clause had no meaning because Congress' powers to provide for the "general welfare" were not spelled out.

Even Charles Beard, American historian, admitted himself baffled on how the words "general welfare" got into the Constitution. So did others.

What developed through most of American history was not concern for the welfare of individuals but the legend of rugged individualism which had its roots in many sources.

For example: the expanding frontier which carried with it the concept of unlimited individual opportunity; the free enterprise economic philosophies of the 18th and 19th centuries; the preachings of Herbert Spencer, the British sociologist who originated "survival of the fittest," which meant the devil take the hindmost.

Through most of American history there was no control on the accumulation of wealth — like the antitrust laws (the first one in 1890) or graduated income taxes (starting in 1913).

But enterprise in America has never been entirely free. The first Congress passed the first Tariff Act to protect American business from the competition of imports.

More recently there have been government subsidies to farmers and businesses of various kinds in the midst of arguments, still going on, against any government interference.

Still, the seeds of government responsibility were planted early in America. The first British settlers brought with them the Elizabethan poor laws under which local communities assumed responsibility for the poor.

Later, states assumed it and, finally, the federal government. In the increasingly complex American society the real problem has always been how to retain a maximum amount of freedom while government control and interference of necessity increase.

But the realization of federal responsibility was a long time in coming.

In 1854 President Franklin Pierce vetoed a bill giving federal lands to states for the benefit of the insane. He said "the welfare clause in the Constitution did not give Congress the right to provide money for the indigent insane nor for any indigent persons."

For more than three-quarters of a century Pierce's veto controlled federal relief policy. In 1887 President Grover Cleveland said, "I do not believe that the power and duty of the general government ought to be expended to the relief of individual suffering, which is in no manner related to public service."

This remained the national attitude until 1933 when, under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Congress passed the Federal Emergency Relief Act which provided direct grants to states to help relieve unemployment.

Roosevelt said, "It is our plain duty (under the welfare clause of the Constitution) to provide for that security upon which welfare depends."

The great stride in recognizing federal responsibility in this field was taken Aug. 14, 1935 when Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act into law.

The Great Debate

By David Lawrence

'Equal Time' Law Seen Infringement Of Rights

There's a lot of talk about a "great debate" between Kennedy and Nixon. It's supposed to take place when Congress repeals a provision of law which requires radio and television stations to give "equal time" to all candidates for a public office, irrespective of the size of the "political party" they claim to represent or David Lawrence of the news interest in what they have to say.

But what has Congress got to do with it? The Constitution says Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press." The so-called "equal time" provisions are as invalid today as if the Congress had passed a law telling newspapers what kind of headlines they may put over their news articles.

Why, indeed, does anybody wait for Congress to act before the "great debate" can take place? Why do the press associations and the newspapers wait?

The candidates say they are ready and that they will not speak from notes but will go at the controversial questions in a wholly impromptu manner.

Why, therefore, shouldn't The Associated Press and United Press International, which serve newspapers publishing more than 58 million copies a day, take the initiative and arrange for the debate? There's no law that says the debate can be carried on only by television or radio.

THERE IS, moreover, today a remarkable electronic invention, called "video tape," which permits television cameras to record any scene, along with sound, on a magnetic tape. Such recordings can not only be televised but can be duplicated on other tapes which also can be used over and over again on as many television stations as desire it.

A suitable studio is available in the Capitol Building — paid for by the taxpayers — which is used every day for television or radio interviews with members of Congress. While these can, of course, be exhibited immediately after being recorded, the conversations often are taped several days in advance and are sometimes shown to the public a week or more later.

So it would be easy for the Associated Press and United Press International to invite Messrs. Nixon and Kennedy to a joint debate on perhaps one topic a week throughout the campaign, and furnish the video tape to the television stations, individually or as networks, to use as they please just as would the newspapers. The recording also could be made available for radio broadcasting.

No governmental authority tells the press how much space it should give to any speech by government officials or candidates or anybody else.

As a matter of fact, it would be a good idea not to let Nikita Khrushchev get the impression that the government here controls television and radio in political campaigns, for he could twist this to mean that what he is doing in Russia is analogous and that America's boast about the press being free from governmental restriction is hypocritical.

IT WILL BE argued that the people like to see the two nominees on the screen — how they look in action. The newspapers could easily print a sequence of snapshots from the film recording showing the facial expressions and gestures of the candidates that would be of interest to the people.

Such publication has the advantage, too, of permitting those citizens who work in the evenings and can't see television to pick up their favorite newspaper and read the "great debate" whenever it is convenient to do so.

But there is no reason why the whole thing couldn't be released simultaneously for public reading, television viewing and listening by radio. Lots of news material is given out for publication in print or over the air at a fixed time in the day.

If the American people are really pining to hear or read the "great debate" between Nixon and Kennedy, there is no good reason for waiting on a dallying Congress to enact superfluous legislation designed to spare the television and radio stations some embarrassing controversies with would-be candidates for president on tickets of minor parties.

It would also furnish the television and broadcasting companies a good opportunity to fight in the courts the unconstitutional laws that seek to control the freedom of the press.

The truth is radio and television are just as much a part of the "press" as are books, magazines, press associations and newspapers and they are entitled to present as much or as little of the "great debate" as they think the public wants.

Cynics And Civil Rights

By Raymond Moley

It has often been said, with great truth, that the toughest public problems are not decisions between right and wrong but between two conflicting rights.

It was so when a right-to-work law was placed on the ballot in several states two years ago.

A man should have a right to keep his means of livelihood without joining and contributing to a union. But, it was contended, that an employer has a right to make a closed-shop contract with a union. In such cases it is the responsibility of statesmanship to consider all the practical facts involved and to legislate in some way that will save the substance of right on both sides and inflict the least infringement upon freedom of choice.

It is so with what are called civil rights. Properly considered, what are now called civil rights have moved far beyond either moral or legal rights.

POLITICIANS in public authority have consistently moved to make legal rights under federal law out of many matters which formerly either were regarded as private privilege or have been established within the exclusive powers of the states.

There is something called the reign of law, and also something known as the consent of the governed. These principles, as old as Anglo-Saxon civilization, mean roughly that law, any law, if it is to be respected and enforced, must appeal to an overwhelming majority of those who live under it.

The Temperance Movement was an effort to strengthen individual and social sanctions. Temperance said, "Don't touch the stuff." Prohibition said, "You can't have it."

The latter failed except in places where an overwhelming majority of the people agreed. It will be so with civil rights. Legislation already passed and in Supreme Court decisions, and, above all, in the party platforms, proposes to push federal authority on and on into the area formerly occupied by public opinion and state and local law.

Reasonable individuals must realize that the point at which federal power can effectively operate has already been passed and that further response to those who want more "rights" created by law not only will be ineffective but will greatly worsen the situation of Negroes. For when the people who hold governmental authority in the southern states are disregarded, the response of the people who have elected those governments, will be a denial of privileges and benefits hitherto granted the Negroes.

Powers Trial An Anti-Climax

Before the trial of Francis Gary Powers gets under way in Moscow, Americans owe it to him, his wife, his mother and father and to themselves to understand what is going to happen.

The Russians hold not only the high cards but the deck. Their indictment shows they know everything there is to know about Powers, his airplane and what he was doing. They have obtained from the young pilot, himself, all the details needed to back up their case against him as an alleged spy who violated their borders.

They have promised a full confession, and there is no reason to doubt their promise. They have held Powers since the beginning of May, much longer than the time needed to brainwash him. Their mastery of this technique, which one of their great scientists developed with his historic experiments on setting up conditioned reflexes in dogs, is complete.

They have proved it many times, beginning in the great purge trials of the '30s when high Russian officials babbled any confession that suited the needs of the prosecution. They proved it in 1951 in the trial of William Oatis, U.S. newspaperman accused of activities hostile to Czechoslovakia. Oatis said what his captors wanted him to say. Hundreds of U.S. prisoners of the Red Chinese in the Korean War became parrots under the "tutelage" of instructors schooled in the Pavlov methods of proving that people can be "trained" as handily as dogs if their masters know how to teach them.

The Powers trial will be a propaganda show, and there is nothing the United States can do to make it anything else. This has been the jolting tragedy of the U2 incident. Never before have Americans realized more painfully what it feels like to be unable to break out of a corner in which they have been penned by circumstances they couldn't control.

Hence the wild, foolish and irresponsible things that have been said about the U2 incident. They shouldn't be duplicated when the Powers trial begins this week. The Russians are about to put on one of their characteristic mockeries. Americans should show their contempt by their silence.

They cannot save Francis Powers from the fate that already has been decreed for him by his Russian captors. But they can save their dignity, which they almost kicked away last May with a spatter of foolish comment.

Behind The Scenes

It's fair time again in the district, with at least one such event having been completed and others in preparation.

The annual Columbiana County exposition Aug. 23-27 will climax the activities.

Fairs have a wide appeal, with their varied displays, entertainment, races and other forms of amusement. But amid all the glamor and excitement, the hard work that goes into making them a success often is forgotten.

Such events don't just happen. They are the result instead of proper planning by committees who labor often far into the night, night after night. And like other endeavors, fairs have their budget problems to complicate matters. But all in all, they are exhilarating events which over the years have become an enjoyable part of community life.

So, a salute to those who work so diligently both behind the scenes before the doors open and on the scene after the curtain has gone up. May sunny days and star-studded skies smile on their efforts.

Parkinson's Law Covers It

Congress did not need an extra three weeks in August to wrap up what very well could have been wrapped up early in June.

Moreover, Congress has no firm intention of wrapping up anything in August; it is marking time for the convenience of a pair of Democratic senators who are the presidential and vice-presidential nominees of their party.

If it had any real work to do or any inclination to do any real work, it would be going about this tag-end session differently. What it is doing is an example of the kind of legislative dilly-dallying that hurts representative government more than it is comfortable to admit.

This is why. Representative government depends on popular understanding of what is proposed, what is said during debate and what finally is decided. When legislative bodies stall, dilly-dally, wheel and deal, back and fill, act and reconsider and put off till week after next what they could have done the day before yesterday, they create so much public confusion that people lose track of what is going on. They get the idea that nothing is going on, just as they get the idea that a glacier isn't moving because they can't detect any movement.

When The Living Is Easy

"Summertime, when the living is easy..." When a prudent gardener can nip out to the corn patch and carry back an armful of prime sweets, to be popped into a pot, or roasted as "roasting ears" used to be;

When the carrots are crisp and crunchy, the baby beets are ready to give their lives for the improvement of mankind, the snap beans are just right for snapping in the shade of a tree and the tomatoes are bursting with their exuberant goodness;

And peaches with the bloom of youth on their unshaved skins are ready to spread gladness and peach juice, the early transplants have fulfilled their destiny of pie-filling and applesauce making and the first melons and cucumbers have challenged the digestive flexibility of the human body.

There is all this and much more — plums, chard, beet greens, peppers and the prospect of pendulous bunches of grapes. Life is luxury against a backdrop of gladness, a cup that runneth over flavored with essence of nasturtium and rose.

Now in fever come the perfect days that so rarely show up in June... now, when the living is easy and abundant and full of the flavor of summer.

Hollywood (take a deep breath) is to turn out a TV series on "The Real West," giving a more honest picture of what it was like. Gary Cooper will narrate. Three cheers for the idea. Bunk and baloney content of TV Westerns has been pretty awful, with caricatures made of really true heroes of frontier. Bat Masterson, for example, as a cane swinging dandy, is a complete distortion that must make Bat turn in his grave. And what they have done to the quiet, calm, non-spectacular Wyatt Earp is a crime. This is true of most of the famed town marshals and their techniques, all of which would have made bumptious comics anywhere in the wild and woolly country.

With TV ratings all in, both party conventions are now admitted to be TV Flop of Year. Even fans who could stand soap operas, roller derbies and old Keystone movies switched out early. Both parties thought they were staging sessions with TV appeal, but produced shows so dull they will go into history as first conventions to make "commercials" look good.

The TV debate between Nixon and Kennedy may be the most gripping TV show since the "Battle at the O. K. Corral." With both battling for the White House, the program could be called "This Is Your Life or Death."

It can have elements of heavyweight championship brawl, crucial baseball series and epic rumput between Jack Paar and his boss. This could call for scorecards, referees and instructions. "In case of a knock down go to a neutral corner, and protect yourself in the clinches."

A Loud Foul Ball?

Red Sabotage Predicted For U.S.

By Victor Riesel

PARIS
In the files of Western counter-intelligence agents here there are monitorings of international phone calls placed to V29500 Moscow. At that number sits Victor V. Grishin. He was, however, not there at the end of May and in the early weeks of June. He was in Peiping calling for riotous destruction and crippling strikes against the United States and its allies.

Victor Riesel

Within a few hours, riots turned the streets of big European cities slippery with blood.

Communities were paralyzed when garbage collectors, airfield employees and even scientists controlled by Communist cadres struck hard.

There were no such strikes in the United States because there are only four influential Communist-controlled American unions. But there will be sabotage. This is a flat prediction. There will be sabotage.

COMRADE GRISHIN's words are never ignored. For he is the Soviet's top union official — chairman of the All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions.

Shortly after Premier Khrushchev returned from his dramatic performance here — which should really have been housed at the Sarah Bernhardt Theater — Grishin was directed to launch a new era of street violence.

Soon he was on his way to Peiping. There he conferred with global Communist leaders gathered for what is called the General Council of the World Federation of Trade Unions.

"We consider it an international responsibility," said Grishin, "of the working people and trade unions to wage a struggle by all means to eliminate the U.S. military bases built on the territory of other countries."

"The most important task of the trade union movement is to exert every effort to expose to the working people the barbarous characteristics of the imperialist aggressors and to organize mass action by the working people including demonstrations, mass rallies and meetings to defend peace."

"The task of the trade unions is to strengthen greatly counter-propaganda, to expose the imperialists and to tell the working people all the dangers of the adventurist policy of the imperialists."

"To Main Street, U.S.A., this is jabberwocky. To the Communist controlled unions in the Red belts of Western cities, it is a call to street action, the tactics of Tokyo, the manning of street barricades. The lethal horror of this is truly known only to those of us who have experienced it."

This is the rising of underground "armies." They are the trade union cadres, trained, drilled, equipped, disciplined storm troops of Communist unions.

They are the revolutionary forces on which Moscow counts to topple governments. It saves the wear and tear and the public embarrassment of an official military invasion. It happened in Czechoslovakia. It is happening in Cuba.

WITHIN A WEEK after Khrushchev reported to the Russian Central Committee and it instructed Grishin to pass on word to the regional Communist labor chiefs, the drive started against Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Between May 31 and July 4, for example, there were 10 major strikes.

First the railroads were hit when 300,000 men quit. This was the first industrywide walkout since De Gaulle took office. Then out went tens of thousands of government employees. No garbage was collected. Communications were cut. Flash strikes hit the buses and subways.

Soon 100,000 construction workers hit the bricks. Then most of the chemical plants in Paris and the southern France area, were shut. Next the airports and the rolling strikes rolled on.

In Italy, the labor cadres of Agostino Novello's General Confederation of Workers (CGT) were put on the alert. When Communist party chief Palmiro Togliatti winged in from Moscow early in July, he alerted Comrade Longo's professional Communist underground army.

Soon riotous general strikes were injuring from 50 to 200 persons in Italy's big cities.

The tactic is simple. The CGT calls a general strike. The regular underground Communist troops, in civilian clothes, of course, form around the labor cadres. Then they hit the streets and battle with the police.

The price of peaceful streets and a truce in the revolutionary pressure is governmental anti-Americanism.

Since the Communists can't get that, they'll bloody the streets, bomb the opposition and sabotage our defenses in Europe and back home. The era of Stalin's violence is back again.

Social Security In U. S.

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
The Social Security Act is just 25 years old but it has taken a long time — most of American history — for the government to accept much responsibility for the individual welfare of its citizens.

The idea is still being fought. The Constitution says "We, the people..." in order to form a more perfect union... promote the general welfare... do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

What did "general welfare" mean? Did it include the general welfare of individual persons?

James Madison, called the father of the Constitution and one of the signers, said later the welfare clause had no meaning because Congress' powers to provide for the "general welfare" were not spelled out.

Even Charles Beard, American historian, admitted himself baffled on how the words "general welfare" got into the Constitution. So did others.

What developed through most of American history was not concern for the welfare of individuals but the legend of rugged individualism which had its roots in many sources.

For example: the expanding frontier which carried with it the concept of unlimited individual opportunity; the free enterprise economic philosophies of the 18th and 19th centuries; the preachings of Herbert Spencer, the British sociologist who originated "survival of the fittest," which meant the devil take the hindmost.

Through most of American history there was no control on the accumulation of wealth — like the antitrust laws (the first one in 1890) or graduated income taxes (starting in 1913).

But enterprise in America has never been entirely free. The first Congress passed the first Tariff Act to protect American business from the competition of imports.

More recently there have been government subsidies to farmers and businesses of various kinds in the midst of arguments, still going on, against any government interference.

Still, the seeds of government responsibility were planted early in America. The first British settlers brought with them the Elizabethan poor laws under which local communities assumed responsibility for the poor.

Later, states assumed it and, finally, the federal government. In the increasingly complex American society the real problem has always been how to retain a maximum amount of freedom while government control and interference of necessity increase.

But the realization of federal responsibility was a long time in coming.

In 1854 President Franklin Pierce vetoed a bill giving federal lands to states for the benefit of the insane. He said "the welfare clause in the Constitution did not give Congress the right to provide money for the indigent insane nor for any indigent persons."

For more than three-quarters of a century Pierce's veto controlled federal relief policy. In 1887 President Grover Cleveland said, "I do not believe that the power and duty of the general government ought to be expended to the relief of individual suffering, which is in no manner related to public service."

This remained the national attitude until 1933 when, under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Congress passed the Federal Emergency Relief Act which provided direct grants to states to help relieve unemployment.

Roosevelt said, "It is our plain duty (under the welfare clause of the Constitution) to provide for that security upon which welfare depends."

The great stride in recognizing federal responsibility in this field was taken Aug. 14, 1935 when Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act into law.

The Great Debate

By David Lawrence

'Equal Time' Law Seen Infringement Of Rights

There's a lot of talk about a "great debate" between Kennedy and Nixon. It's supposed to take place when Congress repeals a provision of law which requires radio and television stations to give "equal time" to all candidates for a public office, irrespective of the size of the "political party" they claim to represent or

David Lawrence of the news interest in what they have to say.

But what has Congress got to do with it? The Constitution says Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press." The so-called "equal time" provisions are as invalid today as if the Congress had passed a law telling newspapers what kind of headlines they may put over their news articles.

Why, indeed, does anybody wait for Congress to act before the "great debate" can take place? Why do the press associations and the newspapers wait?

The candidates say they are ready and that they will not speak from notes but will go at the controversial questions in a wholly impromptu manner.

Cynics And Civil Rights

By Raymond Moley

It has often been said, with great truth, that the toughest public problems are not decisions between right and wrong but between two conflicting rights.

It was so when a right-to-work law was placed on the ballot in several states two years ago.

A man should have a right to keep his means of livelihood without joining and contributing to a union. But, it was contended, that an employer has a right to make a closed-shop contract with a union. In such cases it is the responsibility of statesmanship to consider all the practical facts involved and to legislate in some way that will save the substance of right on both sides and inflict the least infringement upon freedom of choice.

It is so with what are called civil rights. Properly considered, what are now called civil rights have moved far beyond either moral or legal rights.

POLITICIANS in public authority have consistently moved to make legal rights under federal law out of many matters which formerly either were regarded as private privilege or have been established within the exclusive powers of the states.

There is something called the reign of law, and also something known as the consent of the governed. These principles, as old as Anglo-Saxon civilization, mean roughly that law, any law, if it is to be respected and enforced, must appeal to an overwhelming majority of those who live under it.

The Temperance Movement was an effort to strengthen individual and social sanctions. Temperance said, "Don't touch the stuff." Prohibition said, "You can't have it."

The latter failed except in places where an overwhelming majority of the people agreed.

It will be so with civil rights. Legislation already passed and in Supreme Court decisions, and, above all, in the party platforms, proposes to push federal authority on and on into the area formerly occupied by public opinion and state and local law.

Reasonable individuals must realize that the point at which federal power can effectively operate has already been passed and that further response to those who want more "rights" created by law not only will be ineffective but will greatly worsen the situation of Negroes. For when the people who hold governmental authority in the southern states are disregarded, the response of the people who have elected those governments, will be a denial of privileges and benefits hitherto granted the Negroes.

A COMPARISON of the two platforms of the parties this year makes it clear that the Democratic platform is far more drastic than that of the Republicans.

It also goes beyond anything seen since the Radical Republicans were riding high and cruelly in the days of the Reconstruction.

This is especially true of the provisions which concern eligibility to vote and the recent sit-down agitation.

The Democrats would abolish all literacy tests for voting, presumably in the North as well as the South. The Republicans say that the completion of the sixth grade should be accepted as a literacy qualification. That is fair.

The Democrats mention "downs by name. The Republicans commend those who have eliminated discrimination in retail establishments and urge others to follow the example.

But in urging more legislation, both were guided by political expediency.

The Democrats said, in effect, to the South: "We don't need you any more."

The Republicans said: "We need New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois more than we need you."

Cynicism breeds cynicism. When, to gain a political advantage, political leaders go beyond what they must reasonably believe to be wise and just, it follows that citizens everywhere will be either cynical or indifferent toward all politics and politicians.

For there are two kinds of rights arrayed here: the rights of the South to deal with its problem by gradual means, and, on the other side, the rights demanded by many Negroes.

Perhaps neither party means all that it says in its platform. That would be super-cynicism.

Regular Telephones Utilized For Talk Bounced Off Echo I

HOLMDEL, N. J. (AP)—Scientists talking across the heavens with the help of the Echo I satellite today held their first conversation with standard telephones.

The latest experiment in bouncing sound waves off America's newest space traveler began at 12:30 a.m. when William Victor, a research consultant on the Echo I project, picked up a telephone in Pasadena, Calif.

Victor telephoned the Jet Propulsion Laboratories in Goldstone, Calif., and asked to be connected to the Bell Telephone Laboratories here via the 10-story aluminum-coated balloon that circles the earth every two hours at a height of 1,000 miles.

The call was plugged into the transmitter and sent via Echo I to Holmdel, from Holmdel to Bell's central switchboard in Midletown and back to Holmdel where it rang a telephone.

The instrument was picked up by William C. Jakes Jr., research director for the Echo project at Holmdel.

"Hello, Bill," Victor said. "How do I sound?"

Jakes told him his voice was coming in loud and clear.

"You sound as if you're only 40 miles away," Victor said.

Since Friday, when the balloon was launched into space, scientists at Holmdel and Goldstone

Balloon Of Echo Satellite Seen Here

The Echo satellite—an aluminum-coated balloon as tall as a 10-story building, was observed over East Liverpool during the weekend and may be visible tonight if skies are clear.

The communications device, orbiting 1,000 miles above the earth, was seen about 10:46 Saturday night and 10:22 Sunday night and is scheduled for another pass tonight at 9:58. It is hard to detect as it looks like a star and does not blink. It will appear in the southwest, traveling slowly northeasterly about 60 degrees above the horizon.

have been exploring the different kinds of radio sound waves the shiny aluminum surface can mirror.

Sunday the voice of a scientist at the Naval Research Laboratory, Stump Neck, Md., was bounced off Echo I to Holmdel and hurled back into space for another bounce to Goldstone.

Later Sunday a taped instrumental recording of "America the Beautiful" was similarly sent from Maryland to New Jersey to California. Sunday night two scientists at Goldstone held a four-way conversation with two scientists here.

The laboratories have been transmitting primarily at night because it is easier to spot the balloon.

A conversation can only take place when Echo I is within the horizon of all the points involved.

Woman In Coma Gives Birth To A Healthy Son

BOSTON (AP)—A woman who has been in coma for four months has given birth to a healthy son at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital.

Marilyn Tagen, 27, gave birth on Aug. 6, but it was disclosed publicly only Sunday.

Hospital officials said the mother is suffering from a rare condition characterized by a pressure on the brain.

The development of the first gasoline engine to propel a road vehicle is generally credited to George Selden of Rochester, who obtained the basic patent on an automobile propelled by an internal-combustion engine on Nov. 5, 1895.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Peaches Still Reach Market

Peaches are still the "big news" in fresh fruit in this area this week, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Red Havens, a yellow freestone with lots of red color, still is available although its season is beginning to end. Golden Jubilee is another popular yellow variety found mostly in roadside markets, as it is a little too soft for shipping. Cumberland, a white peach with a pleasant, distinctive aroma, is also in season this week.

Other varieties coming soon are Sunhigh, South Haven and Hale Haven. Elbertos will be ready about the first of September.

The quality of most of this home-grown fruit is excellent with peaches sizing fairly well with excellent color.

Early apples seem in rather short supply with Transparents about gone and few Duchesses, Wealthy and Early McIntosh available.

Local plums are starting to ripen and should be available through Labor Day.

Many cantaloupes on the market have not developed the flavor desired by many people. This may happen because of the variety of melon or because it is picked too green. If ripe melons are kept in the refrigerator, they should be allowed to stand at room temperature for several hours before serving to develop their full flavor.

Grapes, red, white and green, are another seasonal fruit now available at more reasonable prices. Watermelons, lemons and limes fill out the fruit list.

Sweet corn, carrots, beets, cabbage, peppers, cucumbers, squash, tomatoes and beans make up the seasonal list of economical summer vegetables.

Beef roasts, rib and chuck steaks, picnics, pork steaks, and poultry fryers are excellent meat choices this week.

Father Keeps Son, 4, Hidden In Dark Foyer

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—A father of four was in jail today charged with child neglect as police investigated the case of his 4-year-old son who was found in a dark and dirty cubicle of his home.

Police said the father, Rudolph Escamilla, 29, told them his son, Anthony, had been in the cell-like stairwell for a month. But police said neighbors reported Escamilla, his wife, Paula, 27, and their three daughters had lived in the home for 18 months and they never knew the family had a son.

Police broke into the makeshift 5-by-10 foot prison Saturday night after neighbors reported they heard a child crying.

The boy, wearing only a T-shirt, was sitting on a pile of rags, which was his bed. He was locked behind sliding doors in what once had been a staircase foyer.

Surgeon General Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, 72, Army surgeon general during World War II, died Saturday after undergoing abdominal surgery. He held the surgeon general post from 1943 until his retirement in 1947. He was born in Rising Sun, Md.

Deputies Kill Man Who Held Family Hostage In Home

JENNER, Calif. (AP)—A ragged and half-starved prison fugitive died in a gunfight with sheriff's deputies Sunday a few hours after he had invaded a home and held seven persons hostage two hours while he wolfed stew and potatoes.

George F. Winn, 33, who fled the prison ranch just outside San Quentin Aug. 2, charged into the Larry von Arx home Saturday night, brandishing a knife.

"Do what I say or I'll kill you—I've killed before," he snarled. "He just rapped on the kitchen door and came on in," said von Arx, a lumber hauler. "He stuck this knife in my back and said he wanted something to eat. Told us he'd been living on water and a little raw fish for over a week."

The wife fed him what the boys would have had for supper, stew and potatoes. The boys missed their supper because they were late.

Fifteen minutes later, the two von Arx sons, Victor, 18, and Bill, 16, entered the house.

The captives were joined ten minutes later by friends David Nelson, 15, his brother Leslie, 16, and Don Lang, 15.

"The fellow told us he'd been in a lot of trouble for many years," von Arx said. "He told us he'd got a couple of deputies and they didn't scare him none."

"He told us he'd been watching our house from the hills all day long. He knew one of my boys had been out hunting all day with the deer rifle and the other had gone shooting birds with a .22."

"He said he picked on our house because he knew we had guns inside. He grabbed that deer rifle and a box of my ammunition."

Winn ripped a telephone from the wall and fled north in the family car. He missed another phone in the house.

Von Arx called the Sonoma County sheriff's office and an all-points bulletin was issued.

Sheriff's deputies Erwin Carlstedt and Dick Huls of adjoining Mendocino County set up a roadblock and flagged down an auto fitting the description of the von Arx car.

The driver leaped out with a rifle and disappeared behind the car.

Then he shouted, "I'm coming out," and fired two shots, both wild. The deputies fired nine times, hitting Winn in the leg and head. He died an hour later.

12-Ounce Baby Lives After New York Birth

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-ounce girl was still alive in an incubator today—two days after she was born 4½ months prematurely in a hospital in Brooklyn.

The baby was delivered to Dorothy Dispensa, 35, Saturday at Caledonian Hospital.

Mrs. Dispensa and her husband, Joseph, 38, have another daughter, Carol Ann, 12.

Driver Fined $10

NEW CUMBERLAND — Paul Swearingen, 33, of Follansbee was fined $10 and costs for failure to have his auto under control at a hearing Saturday before Squire John D. Herron. He was cited Friday night when his new car crashed into an embankment on State Route 2.

Early Frenchman provided their kings with blunt but colorful nicknames. There were Charles the Bald, Louis the Stammerer, Charles the Simple and Louis the Fat.

Prelate Gets Visit In Red China Cell

HONG KONG (AP)—William C. Walsh, 70, a lawyer from Cumberland, Md., arrived here from Red China Sunday after seeing his brother, Bishop James E. Walsh, 69, for possibly the last time.

The bishop, imprisoned by the Communists, told his brother as they parted: "We will meet in heaven."

Walsh had three closely supervised visits of about an hour each with his brother in his Shanghai cell last week. Walsh, former judge and attorney general of Maryland, asked his brother if he wanted him to plead for a pardon or early release. The Roman Catholic prelate replied: "No one likes to be confined but I am not unhappy. I leave my future completely in God's hands."

Bishop Walsh first went to China in 1918. He returned to the United States later and eventually became father general of the Maryknoll order of priests at Ossining, N. Y. He returned to China in 1948 as a bishop and was placed under house arrest in 1951 after refusing repatriation. He said he wanted to continue his work in Shanghai. In March, the Communists sentenced him to 20 years in prison on espionage charges.

Timetable Proves Of Value
In Any Remodeling Plans

CHICAGO — How do you like your remodeling done? All at once or progressively step by step?

If the latter way, then you will need a remodeling timetable indicating which job will get preference, which projects come next, and so on down the line.

Say it's the bathroom that needs attention first. That's the case in 25,000,000 homes that are at least 30 years old. Then the bathroom gets the honor position at the head of the list.

What's next? Is it heating or is it the kitchen? In many houses over 30 years old, it's a tossup. All right. Say a majority vote in the family favors doing the kitchen over as soon as possible—putting it after the bathroom and before the heating plant—if you can make the heating system "do" that long.

Eventually the heating system gets its turn. Perhaps it involves a new boiler, a new burner, new heat distributors, or new and more sensitive controls.

Finished? No, not yet. There's the powder room. Or is there? If there isn't one of these useful and step-saving rooms, then that should be the next project. Or perhaps the house has a first-floor washroom, but the fixtures are dated—20 years old or older—and need replacing.

So there's a timetable for modernization. You will want to talk things over with your plumbing and heating contractor. He will have suggestions on the priority of various projects.

But the main idea, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, is to have a continuous program of home improvement. By doing this you can keep your house in step with the times.

Pre-Cast Beams Used
In New IBOP Building

The new International Brotherhood of Operative Potters headquarters building under construction near Williamsport is one of the first in the East Liverpool area to employ combined pre-cast concrete floor, roof, columns and beams of Lake Erie Flexicore, Inc., of Kent.

The pre-cast floor and roof system is of Flexicore, made by the firm for several years, while the columns and beams are a new product, according to Leland Schneider of Kent, local representative of the company.

The Flexicore construction provides a fireproof and soundproof building at low cost. Schneider said. The building is being erected by the Potters Construction Co. and was designed by Robert F. Beatty of East Liverpool.

Varied Uses Served
By Weatherstripping

Weatherstripping around windows and doors of a home is vital to economy, health and comfort. Good weatherstripping sharply reduces heat loss, dust and unhealthy, uncomfortable drafts.

From an economy standpoint, weatherstripping is worth its weight in gold.

Tests on well-insulated houses shown that air infiltration around doors and windows accounted for as much as 37 per cent of the heat loss.

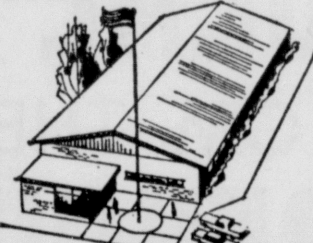

Mirrors Add Gracious
And Modern Feeling

Even the most perfect room attains a more gracious, modern feeling when mirrors are added.

Outdoor areas may be brought to both sides of a room with a mirror to reflect the beauty from out the window.

New and very handsome are the full-length sliding door mirrors. They are quite easy to install and come with a "fingertip" sliding unit.

NOTHING LIKE PLENTY of "washing-up" space in a home with children. And, if there's not a bathroom for each child, here's the next best thing—an installation of two lavatories built into an easy-to-clean counter top in the children's bathroom, or in any bathroom. Clean-up chores take less time and bathroom traffic never snarls.

Laundry Tubs
Are Essential

CHICAGO — Good equipment, convenient location, efficient arrangement and good lighting. These are among the essential elements in a well-planned home laundry.

Also right up there at the top are adequate plumbing, modern laundry trays and plenty of hot and softened water.

Even though the modern home laundry is equipped with an automatic washer, there is still a need for laundry tubs. They are part of the basic and indispensable equipment for any home laundry.

The trays are used for soaking clothes and serve as a convenient wash-up place for home hobbyists and other members of the family. They are also useful as a place to clean and scrub miscellaneous household items.

Laundry trays are available in various sizes and materials. A two-compartment laundry tray is recommended by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. This is available in one piece or it can be obtained as two separate trays.

Because of the importance of adequate supply and waste piping for the efficient operation laundry equipment, the matter of correct installation is very important.

Whether an old laundry is to be brought up to date or a laundry installed in a new home, it is advisable to talk things over with an experienced plumbing contractor. His advice on pipe sizing, the layout of the piping system, and the choice of equipment will contribute much to the convenience and utility of the laundry room.

Sunken Bath Will Add
Distinction To Home

If you can't make a big splash with a swimming pool in your home, you can always make a little splash — with a sunken bath. A step-down bath or plunge gives an air of distinction to a home. And, contrary to popular belief, this feature is not a luxury except in appearance.

Technical details of installation should be left to the supplier, but ideas for style, design and layout can be the individual's — provided they are workable.

The tile used for the plunge can be the same as that used for the bathroom, or it can be of contrasting color.

TV, Hi-Fi Take To Wall

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Wall space is being utilized more ingeniously than ever in modern decor.

We are learning more about blending hues from wall art in room decor, take more notice of details, such as framing of what we display, and have learned to complement our furnishings with some unusual wall decorations.

Two objects that are a nuisance to correlate in home furnishings decor — the television and hi-fi—are also taking up wall slack. Mural television has made a hit and now mural hi-fi stereo units are finding popularity.

Well-Planned Kitchen
Takes Five Basic Steps

The American Gas Association suggests these five basic steps to a well-planned kitchen:

First, make a rough outline of your kitchen on a plain sheet of paper.

Second, measure around the

New built-in sets have slimmer speaker units that may be concealed behind swinging pictures. The equipment cabinets housing the radio and phonograph mechanism can be built into bookcases or into the wall.

A wall backed by a closet or stairwell is especially desirable for such built-in installations as the record changer section must be deeper than the thickness of the usual wall. A room divider or even a kitchen cupboard are other ways of installing hi-fi.

While these units do require a certain amount of carpentry unless one is building a new home and can have it included, wall installations make it unnecessary to use expensive custom-made cabinets.

room giving exact distances from wall to edge of window or door trim.

Third, if you have irregularities in your kitchen, be sure to include them in your sketch and give dimensions.

Fourth, indicate existing electrical outlets, fixtures and switches.

Now you are ready to talk to your architect, local cabinet dealer or gas company.

Any one of them will be able to help you. And they will be glad to show you how to carry out your ideas and may, where necessary, suggest additional improvement.

Newer Materials Help
In Home Improvement

If you're making important home improvements, you'll be interested in some of the newer materials available for more comfortable living.

Snow white or pastel-colored shingles do a better job of reflecting the sun's rays than darker shingles and help keep the home cooler during the summer. These shingles are also made available with longer tabs to accentuate the modern long, low look.

Rock wool insulation in ceilings, walls and floors helps cut heating and cooling costs. Asbestos-cement siding shingles require no painting. Vinyl-asbestos floor tiles throughout the house and ceramic tiles for the kitchen and bathroom. Vermiculite-reinforced fireproof gypsum board will offer greater fireproofing protection.

The "easy-payment" plan was used in marriage in ancient Babylon, where a man could purchase a wife for five shekels down, and the rest on a time basis.

Care Advised
If Purchasing
Paint Brushes

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

A paint brush is every bit as much of a specialized hand tool as a chisel, saw or pliers.

Each is made for a specific range of work. Each has built into it a certain amount of quality which can either aid or hinder its user.

A good paint brush will cost more than a poor one. But there are more ways of selecting a brush than by price alone. Here are some facts that may help you to make the proper choice.

Always use the widest brush that is practical for the job. For large flat surfaces, the brush should be from three to six inches, with the four-inch models the most popular. Special wall, flattening, stucco or calcimine brushes are made in this size range for painting special surfaces.

One-to-three-inch brushes are handiest for decorative work, such as woodwork, paneling and trim. If enamel or varnish will be used, get an enameling or varnishing brush, which contains softer hairs, chiseled to aid in cutting in and flowing the finish onto the surface.

For sashes, dados and trellises, pick an oval or flat one to three-inch brush, finely tapered to ease the painting of fine, neat lines. For furniture and toys, the enameling or varnishing brush is recommended, with the narrow sizes for chair legs and rungs, the broader widths for table tops.

A good brush may contain either natural fibers (pure hog bristle or mixture of hog bristle and other animal hairs) or synthetics, such as nylon.

Bounce the bristles against your hand. They should be neither too soft nor too stiff, having a moderate amount of resiliency or springiness.

Check the flags, which are tiny splits or paint-holding branches at the end of the brush. Hog bristle is naturally flagged; synthetic fibers are artificially flagged. Cheap brushes do not have these flags.

While better brushes as a rule have longer bristles, the bristles should not be uniform length. Bristles of different length insure even wear by exposing more flagged ends as the original ones wear down.

A secure setting prevents bristles from coming loose while painting. Tug the bristles gently. A few loose bristles should come out, but if you get too many, pick another brush.

Virtually all good paint brushes contain one or more filler strips of wood, metal or plastic in the base of the brush, just inside the bottom of the ferrule.

The filler strip helps shape the bristles into a natural taper and provides better paint flow. Check for the presence of a filler strip by separating the bristles at the center of the brush and looking down into the ferrule.

One final thing: Those wrappers around quality brushes are not for decoration but to keep the brush properly shaped as well as to keep the bristles clean.

Peg Board Will Serve
Many Uses In A Home

A convenient, easy-to-use material in home fix-up is Masonite Pegboard, especially when spotted in strategic locations to serve functionally and decoratively.

Matching metal fixtures, instantly removable, implement the panels by making it possible to display or store many household items. The use of the panels and fixtures is limited only by the homemaker's imagination.

Among other uses of Pegboard in homes are: sliding doors in overhead kitchen cabinets, liners for closet doors, accent panels in the living room or recreation room, for hanging pictures, bric-a-brac or potted plants, bulletin board in the kitchen or student's room, storage for laundry supplies, and a special wall for sewing equipment.

'Spare Those Trees!'
Is Advice Of Experts

Here's a word to home owners—if there are trees on the property, try to save them — it will save you a great deal of expense later on.

Before leveling your yard for improvements be sure to call an arborist and have him make a thorough inspection of the trees.

Through his experience, he can designate those trees that should be saved, recommend measures for saving them to give your home that extra value, so — be sure to "spare those trees."

If Foundation Is Up In Air, 'Turn Green'

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Bell Syndicate

Nothing spoils the appearance of an otherwise nice house as much as the effect that some giant upheaval had forced it up out of the earth. Nine times out of 10 this affect is caused by too high an exposure of the foundation walls.

There are several ways of overcoming this. One is to grade up the ground as much as necessary. Another is to add another piece of trim around the bottom and a third is to paint the exposed foundation wall green, so that it blends into the grass and adds mass to the shrubbery used in the foundation planting.

Of all these, the painting is about the quickest and least expensive. And the change it can make in a house is almost unbelievable. Only a few months ago we saw a house which always had looked stark and cold because of an excessively high foundation exposure. The owner had just finished painting the foundation green and the result was as though the house had been dropped at least two feet. It now seems to hug the ground and nestle nicely into the shrubbery around it.

Any type of foundation can be painted, be it brick, cement block, stone or poured concrete. However, the paint must be masonry paint, made to cover these materials.

Outside of the benefit of a better-looking house, painting the foundation will go far toward preventing the absorption of water and dampness, which so often causes trouble in the average house basement.

As a precaution before painting masonry, the owner should not be fooled by the fact that it looks dry. It usually takes three to four days of good, clear, dry weather, before you can be sure that masonry has dried out.

ACCOUSTICAL CEILINGS ARE IMPORTANT elements in any sound-conditioning plan. Despite noisy activity only a few feet away, the head of the house reads his magazine in comparative comfort. This is because much of the noise is absorbed by tiny holes in the surface of the ceiling.

If Building A New Home:

Don't Forget The 'Noise' Problem

If you're planning to build a new home soon, take another hard look at the building plans and ask yourself this question: "How much of a noise problem will I have in this house?"

Chances are, unless some form of sound conditioning has been included in those plans, the answer is "far too much for comfort." Back in Grandpa's day, household noise was nothing like the problem it is today. There were no TV sets, automatic washers, disposals, mixers and grinders to create noise in the home. Moreover, homes themselves were built of heavier materials, which effectively prevented outside noise from filtering indoors.

CONTRAST THAT with today's sleek one-story or split-level home filled to the brim with noise-making devices and gadgets and containing all types of hard sound-reflective surfaces which help to amplify everyday sounds into a cacophony of noise. No wonder sound-conditioning is coming into such widespread practice.

Actually, sound-conditioning is neither difficult nor expensive to build into a new home, but it does require advance planning. According to home acoustics experts of the Armstrong Cork Co., there are two basic types of noise that have to be considered: noise produced within the house itself and noise originating outside the house.

The problem inside the home is essentially one of reverberation. Sound waves tend to bounce off the walls, ceilings and other hard room surfaces, producing a constant jumble of discordant sound. If nothing is done to control this situation, noise simply races around the house unchecked, often resulting in strained nerves and an occasional short temper.

THE SOLUTION is to absorb these sound waves before they have a chance to build up into irritating noise levels. Draperies and upholstered furniture can take care of some of this, but in most homes, considerably more absorption is needed. This is why acoustical ceilings are being used more and more in new homes today.

These attractive, easy-to-care-for ceilings soak up as much as 75 per cent of the noise that strikes their surface, and actually help to improve hearing conditions in the home. They're particularly efficient in absorbing the higher pitched, higher frequency sounds which most people find so annoying.

Acoustical ceilings also eliminate the old problem of cracking and chipping that often occurs with orinary ceilings as the house settles. There's never any need for a messy replastering job, regardless of how much settling takes place.

Sound absorbent ceilings are particularly beneficial in such critical noise areas as the kitchen, family room, living room and workshop. But there are other places where they can be used to good advantage too.

In connecting hallways and corridors, for example, they absorb much of the sound traveling through these enclosures and help to reduce transmission of noise to the quiet areas of the home. In the vestibule or entry hall, they muffle the sound of voices and slamming doors. And over the staircase, they help keep noise from traveling between floor levels.

YET AS USEFUL as these new ceilings are, they can't do the entire sound-conditioning job. Special attention also should be given to the arrangement of rooms within the home, making sure that the quiet rooms are located as far as possible from those where most household noise originates. If this can't be done in every instance the placement of closets between rooms is another effective sound isolating technique.

Don't overlook doors. A lightweight, ill-fitting door will let almost as much sound pass through when it is closed as when it is open. Be sure the doors selected for the home are heavy enough to afford adequate sound protection, especially those leading into the bathroom, bedrooms and study.

Noises originating outside the house are usually the most difficult to control at the source, so it is better to avoid them in the very beginning, if at all possible.

Choose a building site which is well away from any potential noise source, such as a busy highway or airport.

Pay particularly close attention to the orientation of your home on the lot. Turn the quiet areas, such as the bedrooms and study, away from the street. And, if possible, plan to have a garage, porch, or breezeway separating the living quarters from neighboring properties.

If you do have to build on a noisy street or thoroughfare, you can still keep outside noise from filtering into the house through the use of extra heavy wall construction and double glass windows tightly sealed around the edges. Outdoor fences or masonry walls also can be effective in reducing the amount of street noise that reaches the house.

Other Nations In Steel Boom

CLEVELAND (AP)—In all the major steel producing nations of the world except the U.S. steel production was up in the first half of 1960 over the first six months of 1959.

The magazine Steel reported today that while steel production was down 5 per cent in this country for the first half, Japan showed a gain of 40 per cent, Italy 30 per cent, United Kingdom 23 per cent, West Germany 23 per cent, the Benelux countries 18 per cent, France 15 per cent and the USSR 9 per cent.

In the same issue the weekly trade publication reported "a dramatic reversal of the import tide that was running so strongly against U.S. steelmakers during the first quarter." Steel cited figures released by the Department of Commerce showing steel exports jumped to 332,000 tons in June, the largest volume since October, 1957, while imports dropped to 213,000 tons, lowest since November, 1958.

No further drops in imports are likely, however, Steel said.

The magazine reported that many steel consumers have finished inventory adjustments but are following a "wait and see" policy in placing orders. Steelmakers still believe September orders will be 10 per cent better than bookings in August, Steel said.

Steelmaking operations advanced slightly last week to 54.6 per cent of rated capacity, total output coming to about 1,556,000 ingot tons. No major changes in the rate of production are expected before Labor Day, Steel said.

Jobless Benefits Paid In 2 Years Total $1.3 Million

Jobless benefits, created a quarter of a century ago as a shock absorber against sudden joblessness, have helped immeasurably in stabilizing the economy in East Liverpool as well as the remainder of Ohio, according to Harry L. Dinsmore, manager of the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office.

More than $1.3 million in benefits was paid out in East Liverpool in the last 2 years, Dinsmore said, explaining purchasing power was maintained by the use of this "powerful depression cushion." Benefits totaling $793,056 were paid here in 1958. The total paid out in 1959 declined to $530,235 as the economy got back on its feet, Dinsmore continued.

Now in its 25th year, some 18,219 workers in Columbiana County are covered by the program. There are about 2 1/2 million in Ohio and 46 million in the nation eligible to participate, he said.

Despite sizeable unemployment in the 1957-58 recession, there was no fear of a prolonged depression because of the unemployment compensation, Dinsmore said.

To be eligible in Ohio, a worker must have had sufficient prior earnings under a covered employer. He also must be able and available for work among other requirements.

When filing claims for jobless benefits, workers must register for work and accept suitable job offers or be disqualified, he explained.

Revitalizing Of Old Property Pays Dividend In Real Estate

CHICAGO — "Revitalizing older property is the biggest source of easy extra income for the small real estate man in the U.S. today," writes Mary Warren Geer. A woman with more than 20 years of profitable experience in real estate restoration work, Mrs. Geer is the author of a book "How to Profit by Rehabilitating Real Estate."

"Most rehabilitation for profit is achieved in a single small operation," writes Mrs. Geer. "It starts out with a cheap but essentially good property — the hard to sell bargain you run across every now and then."

"It proceeds through making that property so nice and so competitive at a stronger price that a profit is automatically included in the new selling or rental price."

Because bathrooms, kitchens and powder rooms tell the age of a house, this is a good place for the realtor to start who wants to make a quick profit on a middle aged house. It is in the plumbing department that a nominal investment will usually make the most dramatic changes, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Many old houses have the reputation of being "hard to heat." If this is the case, a rehabilitation of the heating system is in order. If the heating system is manually fired, it will pay to convert it to automatic firing with oil or gas.

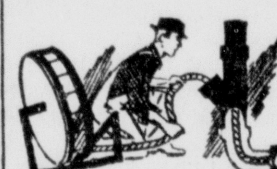

'Misty Walnut' Panels Have Refreshing Look

In modernizing existing homes, a smarter appearance of various rooms can be achieved by the use of Masonite "misty walnut," a handsome woodgrained hardboard paneling.

This popular panel, which comes with a woodgrained finish, ready for installation, is a smart refresher for recreation rooms, bedrooms and living rooms. The panels are either grooved or ungrooved. Following installation (directly over wall studs), the misty walnut panels are given only a protective coating of lacquer, varnish or shellac to protect their high-fidelity woodgrain surface.

These panels are available at most lumber yards.

How Much Paint Will It Take? Grab A Yardstick And Pencil

NEW YORK — A yardstick, pencil and paper and a few minutes of fifth-grade arithmetic will tell you how much paint you will need for any decorating job, indoors or out. So says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, Inc.

To start with, multiply the length of each of the walls by its height. This will give you the number of square feet to be covered. Add the total area of all four walls together, and you'll have the number of square feet to be painted. Do not deduct for windows that are less than 100 square feet in size. For ceilings or floors, multiply the length by the width.

The back label of the paint can tells you how many square feet will be covered by a gallon or other quantity you'll be buying. If this data is not given, ask your paint dealer.

Divide the total number of square feet you are planning to paint by the number of square feet a gallon will cover. This will tell you how many gallons or fractions of gallons you'll need. In general, a gallon of interior paint will cover about 500 square feet.

Bear in mind, however, that if you are painting a wall a color different from the other walls, you'll have to calculate the requirements separately for each color. These rules will be accurate for flat surfaces. But not all surfaces are flat. Here are rules for special objects: First, measure the front area and then multiply by the number shown:

Balustrades 4, lattice work, 4, grills 2, cornices 2, cabinets 5, radiators 7.

Calculating the amount of paint needed for the outside of the house is done the same way. One complicating feature in exterior painting is determining how much paint is needed for gables.

If you'll look at a gable, you'll see it is a triangle. The formula for the area of a triangle is to multiply its width by half its height. If there are two gables, multiply this result by two.

As a rule of thumb, the area of the sash and frame of a window is taken as 35 square feet. To find the amount of enamel or trim and trellis paint you'll need, multiply the number of windows by 35, the key number.

County Gets $259,212 In Intangible Taxes

COLUMBIANA County this week received $259,212 in intangible taxes and $15,985 in sales tax receipts from the state in the biggest single distribution of local government ever mailed in Ohio, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported.

Jefferson County received $229,809 in intangible taxes and $21,308 in sales tax.

The statewide distribution totaled more than $30.5 million, the major part from the intangible tax levied upon financial institutions and security dealers — amounting to $28,500,367. The balance of $2,063,524 was the monthly distribution of sales tax funds.

Dedication Exercises Begin At 8

Meditation Room Service
Planned Friday At Hospital

Dedication services for the newly-completed Meditation Room at East Liverpool City Hospital will be held Friday at 8 p. m.

Plans for the event were announced today by the Executive Board of the Women's Auxiliary.

Because of the limited capacity of the room, Mrs. William B. Cooper, auxiliary president, said that it would be necessary to conduct a private ceremony. She expressed regret that the public could not be invited.

The Meditation Room, which will accommodate 13 people, is located opposite the elevator on the third floor of the new wing. The room will be open to patients and visitors for meditation, Mrs. Cooper said.

Funds for the room were derived from a Remembrance Fund, a project initiated in 1953 under the chairmanship of Mrs. T. Burton Kerr. Memorial donations to this fund have been set aside for a chapel, a future goal of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Kerr said. Insufficient funds and lack of space made a chapel impractical at this time and the board decided to convert an unused room into a small place of worship and retreat instead, she explained.

The dedication services will be attended by representatives of all three faiths in the community. Rabbi Henry Lieberman, spiritual leader of the B'nai Jacob Synagogue, will offer the opening prayer. The Rev. James C. Gardner, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church and president of the Ministerial Association, will deliver the dedicatory address. Closing prayer will be by Fr. Thomas Mulhearn, assistant priest at St. Aloysius Catholic church.

Others attending will be J. D. Thompson, president of the hospital board; Dr. Robert M. Dunlap, president of staff physicians; Miss Nell Robinson, hospital superintendent; Mrs. Sarah Davis, director of nursing, representing nurses in training; Mrs. Sally Crawford, president of the Nurses Alumnae Association, representing graduate nurses; Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. William Horger and Mrs. Perce R. Blake, committee in charge of decorating the Meditation Room; Mrs. Richard C. Mayers, public relations chairman, and Mrs. Cooper.

During other business at the auxiliary meeting, Mrs. Cooper announced that the annual nurses' graduation will be held Sept. 2 and also reported that the 62nd annual American Hospital Association will convene Aug. 29-Sept. 1 at San Francisco.

Mrs. James Batey Jr. was appointed acting corresponding secretary for September and October. Mrs. Mayers reminded all board members that reports for inclusion in the annual booklet to be distributed at the September business meeting must reach her by Sept. 12.

Mrs. Emil Liebschener, chairman of the Pinkie project, announced that 607 pinkie puppets have been given to the Pediatric Department since Jan. 1.

The secretary's report was by Mrs. J. Bennett Porter and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Horger. The board accepted 15 new members for the auxiliary.

Kennedy Sets
Floor Fight On Medical Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy plunged today into a new Senate battle to provide medical care for the elderly under the social security system.

That approach, part of the Democratic party platform, was rejected by the Senate Finance Committee Saturday as it voted 12-4 for an indigent health program supported by federal and state grants.

The committee bill is similar to one already passed by the House. It follows more nearly the pattern recommended by the Eisenhower administration and supported by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy's Republican opponent for the presidency.

But Kennedy said Sunday, "It must be rewritten on the floor of the Senate before the Senate goes home. This Congress should not adjourn before it enacts a comprehensive, adequate plan to meet medical needs." He spoke at a Hyde Park, N.Y., observance of the 25th anniversary of the signing of the Social Security Act.

The committee bill, worked out by Democratic Sens. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma and J. Allen Frear Jr. of Delaware, won the votes of six of the 11 committee Democrats and all six Republicans.

Kennedy, whose minimum wage bill already is under attack by Republicans and Southern Democrats, headed into a round of conferences with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) and other supporters of the social security plan in the Finance Committee.

Main feature of the Kerr-Frear plan would be an expansion of the existing federal-state grants plan for old age assistance or relief to meet most medical costs for the 2,400,000 persons found eligible by the states.

It would offer as much as $12 a month additional for each person to help meet medical costs if they now qualify for public assistance. The states must match part of this added grant as they do now on other assistance.

Another 10 million aged persons, not on public assistance rolls, also could be helped on medical costs if the states paid part of the bills.

Red Aide Ordered To Leave Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high ranking Soviet diplomat has been ordered out of this country on charges he paid a U. S. citizen to seek employment with the U. S. government.

No time was fixed for the departure of Valentin M. Ivanov, 39, a first secretary in the Soviet Embassy here. The State Department said he had "grossly violated the established norms of diplomatic behavior." The formal request that he leave was made Saturday.

Although it is the latest in a series of ouster moves by both the Soviet Union and this country, officials said it was not taken as a retaliatory measure.

The State Department formally blamed Ivanov's own actions for his ouster, saying he "importuned an American citizen, Roger C. Foss, to obtain employment in a U. S. government agency and gave him substantial sums of money for this purpose."

Foss said last week he had received $500 from Ivanov in a series of 15 meetings here and in New York. The Washington Post quoted Foss as saying Ivanov wanted him to "infiltrate the government and society," but that Ivanov never did ask anything of him. He did not get the government job.

Foss, a onetime seaman and a former student at the University of Minnesota, is now a member of the American Nazi party.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Set Clock For Child Who Rises Too Early

A great many children waken and get up with the birds. Those who do, rarely get enough sleep, especially in summer. Allowed to go to bed late occasionally because of the heat, these children habitually are awake during the cool early morning hours when they should be sleeping most comfortably.

Besides, they often hinder the sleep of their parents and other members of the family.

If he can't be easily trained to sleep to a reasonable hour in the morning, many parents will let the young early-riser amuse himself with playthings.

THIS MAY, of course, allow the parents to sleep a little later, but it won't assure sufficient sleep for the youngster. Besides, it doesn't cultivate in him good adaption to family living.

Being out of step with much of the advice given on discipline and guidance of young children, I've been far out of step with the "experts" on training babies and young children to sleep long enough in the morning.

For years I have advised parents to train the youngster to sleep in the morning until he is called or a clock rings. I know it can easily be done, up to any reasonable age of the child.

It was done with our own child.

C. & O. Slates Meeting

On B. & O. Merger Vote

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway has called a special meeting of shareholders for Sept. 14 — just two days after its exchange offer to Baltimore & Ohio Railroad stockholders expires.

The meeting, to be held in Cleveland, will enable C&O shareholders to approve affiliation and eventual merger with the B&O. The stock offer was made June 14. The New York Central Railroad also has made a merger proposal to the B&O which expires Sept. 22.

A great tug-of-war between the Central and C&O for control of the B&O now is in progress. The C&O got an encouraging boost last Friday when Switzerland's "big three" banks privately advised Swiss stockholders of B&O to accept a merger with the Cleveland-based railroad.

Firemen Wait
Fete Reports

Calcutta volunteer firemen will meet tonight at 8 to hear financial reports on the benefit carnival and parade held last week.

Dale Horger, vice president, will preside. Norman Neal is president.

The parade Friday night was led by Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan in a cruiser, John Jackson, the first police chief of St. Clair Township, and the Beaver Local High School Band.

Moon Township from near Pittsburgh won first prize for the best-equipped fire truck, while New Galilee was the second prize winner. Moon Township also won an award for the most men in the line of march — 12.

The oldest truck in service — a 1931 Chevrolet — won an award for Fox Township. The best drill team was Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285 of Wellsville, state champions, who won $25.

The department also awarded $25 for the Beaver Local senior band, and $20 to the junior band.

Judges included Chief Charles Bryan of East Liverpool, Chief Charles Lee of Newell, and R. C. Lloyd, assistant chief of Wellsville.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 29 and must have some kind of record for lousy luck with men.

When I was 19 I fell for a phony who strung me for three years — always promising to divorce his wife but never making good the promise. Then he suddenly quit me.

The next guy was married—only his wife was in a mental institution, he said. It turned out she worked as a supervisor in the kitchen there, and he was using it as an excuse.

The next man was my brother-in-law, and the less said about this one the better. I was a sap and my sister doesn't speak to me to this day.

In May I fell in love with the chiropractor who adjusted my back. His wife called me on the phone last week and threatened me.

Why do I have such terrible luck with men, Ann? Please tell me what kind of husband to look for.—NO. 13.

Dear No. 13: Quit looking for husbands and concentrate on the single men. Your luck may improve.

Browbeaten Son

Dear Ann: The man I married is a perfectionist. He is giving our 10-year-old son such a complex I'm afraid the child will be afraid to breathe if his father doesn't stop criticizing him.

He tells the boy he does everything sloppy or wrong — never a word of praise. It's always picking, ordering or shouting. He is constantly comparing Don with others in his crowd who do better. Such phrases as "I am ashamed of you," or "you're disgracing me" are common in our home.

It tears my heart out to see the hurt look in the boy's eyes when his dad says, "You're a dumb kid who will never amount to anything unless you change your ways." Don has repeatedly asked me why his father hates him. I tell the boy his father loves him, but he has high standards and is hard to please.

Please tell me what to say to my husband. He has no idea what he's doing to his son. — WORRIED MOTHER.

Dear Worried: Tell your husband if he doesn't lay off, his son will crawl into a private world and slam the door shut for good.

Children who are made to feel they aren't "good enough" eventually refuse to compete because they've been told so often that they're dumb, lazy, stupid and can't make the grade.

Tell your husband this world has a long list of successful men whose sons withdrew from life and failed. More often than not it's because their fathers beat them down and destroyed their self-confidence when they should have been given praise and encouragement.

Friend In Need

Dear Ann: I am a girl 11 who wanted to be nice to a boy in our neighborhood who is not very well liked. My mother told me he needed somebody to be kind to him so I decided to be the one.

I really feel sorry for Norbert but I can barely stand him myself. He brags all the time and is a pest. He comes to my house every day and calls on the telephone just to talk.

Yesterday he came over at 10 in the morning and invited himself to stay for lunch. Then he tagged along with my girl friend and me when we went to the movies.

How can I get rid of him without being mean?—PESTERED.

Dear Pestered: I think it's wonderful of you to befriend Norbert but he's taking advantage of your kindness. Ask him to call you before he comes over and don't be bashful about letting him know when you have other plans.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Social Security Pays $7,694 Per Day In Hancock

More than $7,694 is flowing daily into Hancock County as a result of an expanded Social Security program Edgar A. Poe, district manager of the Wheeling Social Security office, reported.

This is an increase of $3,118 a day over what was paid to beneficiaries in 1956.

Poe pointed out most of the increase is due to the extension of coverage to farm groups and professional people.

In addition, an increasing number of industrial workers in the area has meant more people are acquiring an insured status under the program.

This means that in case a worker dies or becomes disabled, payments are made to his survivors or to the disabled worker and his dependents in practically every case.

Since 1956 there has been an increase of 30 per cent in the number of retired workers receiving benefits.

An estimate this month shows monthly benefits of all types are being paid to 3,223 in the county. This includes 1,547 old-age recipients getting $137,268; 518 wives or husbands receiving $23,796. 501 children getting $26,710; 451 widows or widowers getting $27,625; 122 mothers receiving $8,478; 11 parents getting $650 and 73 disabled getting $6,291.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 29 and must have some kind of record for lousy luck with men.

When I was 19 I fell for a phony who strung me for three years — always promising to divorce his wife but never making good the promise. Then he suddenly quit me.

The next guy was married — only his wife was in a mental institution, he said. It turned out she worked as a supervisor in the kitchen there, and he was using it as an excuse.

The next man was my brother-in-law, and the less said about this one the better. I was a sap and my sister doesn't speak to me to this day.

In May I fell in love with the chiropractor who adjusted my back. His wife called me on the phone last week and threatened me.

Why do I have such terrible luck with men, Ann? Please tell me what kind of husband to look for. —NO. 13.

Dear No. 13: Quit looking for husbands and concentrate on the single men. Your luck may improve.

Browbeaten Son

Dear Ann: The man I married is a perfectionist. He is giving our 10-year-old son such a complex I'm afraid the child will be afraid to breathe if his father doesn't stop criticizing him.

He tells the boy he does everything sloppy or wrong — never a word of praise. It's always picking, ordering or shouting. He is constantly comparing Don with others in his crowd who do better. Such phrases as "I am ashamed of you," or "you're disgracing me" are common in our home.

It tears my heart out to see the hurt look in the boy's eyes when his dad says, "You're a dumb kid who will never amount to anything unless you change your ways." Don has repeatedly asked me why his father hates him. I tell the boy his father loves him, but he has high standards and is hard to please.

Please tell me what to say to my husband. He has no idea what he's doing to his son. — WORRIED MOTHER.

Dear Worried: Tell your husband if he doesn't lay off, his son will crawl into a private world and slam the door shut for good.

Children who are made to feel they aren't "good enough" eventually refuse to compete because they've been told so often that they're dumb, lazy, stupid and can't make the grade.

Tell your husband this world has a long list of successful men whose sons withdrew from life and failed. More often than not it's because their fathers beat them down and destroyed their self-confidence when they should have been given praise and encouragement.

Friend In Need

Dear Ann: I am a girl 11 who wanted to be nice to a boy in our neighborhood who is not very well liked. My mother told me he needed somebody to be kind to him so I decided to be the one.

I really feel sorry for Norbert but I can barely stand him myself. He brags all the time and is a pest. He comes to my house every day and calls on the telephone just to talk.

Yesterday he came over at 10 in the morning and invited himself to stay for lunch. Then he tagged along with my girl friend and me when we went to the movies.

How can I get rid of him without being mean? —PESTERED.

Dear Pestered: I think it's wonderful of you to befriend Norbert but he's taking advantage of your kindness. Ask him to call you before he comes over and don't be bashful about letting him know when you have other plans.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Social Security Pays $7,694 Per Day In Hancock

More than $7,694 is flowing daily into Hancock County as a result of an expanded Social Security program Edgar A. Poe, district manager of the Wheeling Social Security office, reported.

This is an increase of $3,118 a day over what was paid to beneficiaries in 1956.

Poe pointed out most of the increase is due to the extension of coverage to farm groups and professional people.

In addition, an increasing number of industrial workers in the area has meant more people are acquiring an insured status under the program.

This means that in case a worker dies or becomes disabled, payments are made to his survivors or to the disabled worker and his dependents in practically every case.

Since 1956 there has been an increase of 30 per cent in the number of retired workers receiving benefits.

An estimate this month shows monthly benefits of all types are being paid to 3,223 in the county. This includes 1,547 old-age recipients getting $137,268; 518 wives or husbands receiving $23,796. 501 children getting $26,710; 451 widows or widowers getting $27,625; 122 mothers receiving $8,478; 11 parents getting $650 and 73 disabled getting $6,291.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Thanks, Fellows, For Everything!

I was advised years ago — oh, years and years and years ago when the world was young and I started this column — not to have guest columns.

If the guest columns are no good, I was told, they pull you down with them and, if they're too good, people fall to wondering why you aren't more coherent, witty and inventive on a regular basis.

This year's guests were in that second category, darn it. They were awfully good and they are awfully hard to follow.

I employ guest columns for the usual ignoble reason (pure laziness), but also for the somewhat more noble one of educating me.

John Crosby

YOU DEVELOP blind spots in this business. Some aspects crying out for praise or censure, or maybe just exposure (gee, what ever happened to that word?), you find yourself ignoring because you simply don't see them.

Hence (another word that hasn't been around much, lately. Where have you been, word?), the guest columnist. He performs a noble service not only in informing (and also, I devoutly hope, entertaining) you, but also in informing and entertaining me.

To all of you from Robert Alan Aurthur to John White — from A to W, that is — many thanks.

TO PICK OUT just a few of the more delicious moments of the instruction my guests gave me, I was entranced by Mr. Aurthur's skit about a TV producer trying to make Controversy noncontroversial. ("I know no one thinks there's anything controversial about James Knox Polk, that's the whole thing. The moment where he isn't sure whether to admit Wisconsin into the Union could be dynamite.")

I howled over Mike Nichols' parody gossip column. "Ilsa Gustafson's analyst tells me that her recent suicide attempt will be her last. I know her friends hope so."

The Hollywood gossips will never seem quite real again. In the same vein, I found Mort Sahl delightful, though hard to pin down — like a firefly.

I THINK we're all looking forward to the face-to-face TV debate between Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon with bated breath. I know I am.

However, I have a sneaking suspicion that this sort of contest will bring its own special problems with it. Both the candidates are pretty fast on their feet. But, if that were the ultimate quality of our presidents, Bob Hope ought to be elected.

Just the same — problems or no — the TV debate is a great step forward in modern electioneering.

Then there's the "Gee, I never knew that" type of column. I am indebted to Bennett H. Korn for letting me in on some of the problems of running an independent station.

WNEW-TV, which is Mr. Korn's fief, has been described unkindly as a poor man's Channel 13. Unable to compete in money with the networks, the independent is forced to use ingenuity.

His station has discovered that the public likes information if it is provocative. Newspapers have earned a good living on this knowledge for something like 250 years. It's refreshing to see a TV broadcaster stumbling across this fact like an original revelation.

ONE THING I noticed for the first time among my guest columns (actually, it's been there for years but this is the first time I've noticed it) is the prevalence of the "I hardly ever watch myself" attitude.

Whether real or not, it just isn't fashionable any more to admit to watching television. The ultimate crystallization of this attitude I found in Arnold Schulman's column. Mr. Schulman said he preferred to read the gory details of TV programming in the newspapers rather than watch for himself.

His nursemaid watches television; his cat watches television — in fact, he suspects the cat is the ultimate 12-year-old intelligence Madison Avenue is looking for — but he doesn't seem to.

This attitude, of course, is a situation devoutly to be wished by newspaper proprietors. But it would worry the devil out of me if I ran a TV station.

OH, THERE WERE many other instructive things about the guest columns — the advice Green and Betty Comden piece about the familiarity of the present generation of urchins with such anachronisms as Joe Penner and Alfred E. Smith which we owe to those ancient cartoons on the air; Arthur Cantan's confession about the machine that computed ratings dishonestly; Edward P. Morgan's horrifying fantasy about a sponsored civilization in which everything from Walter Lippmann to the pictures in the Prado would simply be come-ons for the advertising.

Anyway, thanks again, guests. You were all much too thoughtful, witty and coherent. Next year, you'll have to watch that.

9, KDKA, WSTV, Celebrity Talent Scouts: Roy Campanella, Julius La Rosa and Jane Russell introduce talent.

Equity Urged For Teachers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a telegram today to the nation's teachers, declared that they "must find in their work not only self-fulfillment but equitable reward."

Eisenhower's wire reached the opening session of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers' 44th annual convention here, where "equitable reward" for classroom instructors was a prime topic of discussion.

AFT president Carl J. Megel of Chicago hit on that subject heavily in his prepared address to convention delegates today. He offered a four-point program for lifting the status of the teaching profession within this decade, and three of those points sought to improve the teachers' salary standing.

For one thing, Megel wants teachers to get paid $6,000 to $13,000 a year. He hopes this can come about by adopting collective bargaining for all teachers' unions.

His third point calls for statewide tenure laws in every state. His final proposal is to get national and state legislative programs enacted to make the tenure and collective bargaining a reality.

Eisenhower, in his "equitable reward" message, added:

"In helping to achieve these goals, the American Federation of Teachers is rendering a valuable service to its members and to the national community."

He said "an educated electorate is essential to effective self-government. The progress of American education, its scope and excellence is a tribute to the devoted efforts of the men and women who serve our schools across the land."

Megel, in his address, said collective bargaining for public employees is being increasingly recognized. He cited the new permissive collective bargaining law in Massachusetts and the consent to a collective bargaining agent election secured by Local 2 of the New York City United Federation of Teachers.

Megel said the AFT and state and local federations have successfully waged court battles in the last year to prevent illegal discharge of teachers under existing state tenure laws.

Through AFT efforts in the courts and other avenues, he said, "American teachers are losing their fear complex and know the meaning of academic freedom."

He was associate conductor of the New York Philharmonic from 1926 to 1937 and founder and conductor of the New York Philharmonic Chamber Orchestra and the Hans Lange String Quartet. He was born in Istanbul of German parents.

Color slides showing the detailed steps used in processing both color and black and white film were screened for the Lions Club Friday afternoon by Harvey Alexander of the Holiday Camera Shop.

Alexander discussed the procedures followed, explaining automatic equipment is used in both processing and printing of the film in the firm's Weirton plant.

Started 15 years ago, the firm now is able to process 210 rolls of color film daily by using the comparatively new equipment. It now services some 100 stores.

Alexander was introduced by James Johnston, program chairman.

The club passed a resolution thanking Johnston for his work as chairman of the "Dollars for Debbie" campaign. However, the drive is not being closed, Johnston said.

Richard Judge, picnic chairman, reminded members the annual family picnic will be held Wednesday at Thompson Park. Because of the picnic, no meeting will be held next Friday noon.

Laurin Stacey, chairman, distributed entry blanks for the tennis tournament sponsored by the club. The tournament will be held Aug. 26-28 at the new courts in Thompson Park.

Indications are entries will be received from Beaver Falls, Rochester, East Palestine and Youngstown, Stacey said. The entry fees are a $1 for singles and a $1 for doubles, he said.

Howard Tice, president, announced Charles Herman, first vice president, and Stacey will head the club's light bulb sale in October.

Pirates Bounce Back Again, Increase Their Lead To Six

Defeat Cards In Double Dip; Law Gets 17th

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

For a club that's supposed to fold any day now, those Pittsburgh Pirates persistently bounce back into shape everytime they begin to bend a bit.

There was that long, five-game weekend with second-place St. Louis, for instance. The Bucs went into the showdown with a five-game lead, a seven-game bulge over Los Angeles and Milwaukee and led San Francisco's Giants by 13.

The Cards took the first two games of the set, and it looked like this might be it.

But the Bucs rebounded and packed away the last three, sweeping a double-header 9-4, as Vern Law won his 17th, and 3-2 in 11 innings Sunday. That rocketed the Pirates into a six-game lead over the Cards, and padded their bulge to eight games over the Dodgers and 14½ over the Giants.

The Braves, who whipped the Giants 3-0 on Ed Mathews' three-run homer in the first inning and Lew Burdette's five-hit pitching, alone of the so-called contenders gained any ground on the Pirates over the weekend. Milwaukee took third place and now trails by 6½.

Los Angeles stayed in fourth, splitting a twinbill at Cincinnati. The Reds won 2-0 as Cal McLish pitched his second shutout in the majors—first since 1951—but the Dodgers then rapped out a 9-5 nightcap victory. Chicago's Cubs fled the cellar and dropped Philadelphia in, sweeping the Phils 2-1 and 7-3.

Law, now within one of matching his all-time one-year victory high, gave up a dozen hits, but the Pirates backed him with 13 against loser Larry Jackson (13-10) and two relievers. Rocky Nelson drove in three runs, two with a double as the Bucs scored four runs in the third inning.

The Pirates blew a 2-0 lead in the nightcap, but finally put it away against reliever Lindy McDaniel (10-4) with a walk and singles by Bob Skinner and Don Hoak.

McLish (4-7), pitching his first complete game since May 4, allowed nine hits, but walked just one to win a duel with loser Stan Williams (12-5). Roger Craig and Ed Roebuck.

In the second game, the Dodgers, who had 14 hits, beat reliever Joe Nuxhall (1-6) on Maury Wills' two-run single in the sixth after they had trailed 4-1.

A four-hit pitching job by Dick Ellsworth (6-8) won the opener for the Cubs. Ron Santo's second home run of the day, a sixth-inning slam, won the second game after Ernie Banks' 33rd homer had given the Cubs a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

AT THE BOTTOM of the pile is Warren's Paul Warfield (white uniform), who finally was pulled down after gaining a first down in the third quarter of the annual North-South All-Star football game Saturday at Canton's Fawcett Stadium. On the play the ball was knocked loose from Warfield and a South defender fell on it. But the official, who was Johnny-on-the-spot, already had blown the play dead. No. 40 on top of the pile up is Bill Hall of Cincinnati Purcell.

Ohio's All-Stars Turn To College After North Wins At Canton, 18-8

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's all-star footballers prepared today to scatter to collegiate gridirons after the country following the 18-8 Yankee victory Saturday night in the 15th annual North-South high school game.

Ohio State, fighting back from one of its most disastrous seasons, picks up at least nine of the 50 talented all-stars.

The Bucks landed two of the big ones in halfback Paul Warfield of Warren Harding, who led the all-star ground gainers with 91 yards in 10 tries and was voted the game's outstanding player, and tackle Charles Mamula of Martins Ferry, a 225-pounder who was voted the outstanding lineman in the state last year.

Ohio State also will get William (Woody) Hall of Ironton, who scored the South's only touchdown, but the boys who scored the Yankee six-pointers are headed elsewhere.

Richard Dauch, halfback from Ashland who scored twice for the North, will go to Iowa State, and Don Kornowa of Toledo Woodward, who cashed the other touchdown, goes to arch-enemy Michigan.

Dauch is a real prize. He gained 57 yards in 12 attempts, caught a 19-yard pass and halted a 72-yard Southern drive on the one-inch line to take the ball away from the Rebels.

The Northern victory, before some 11,000 fans, was the third straight for the upstarters and gave them eight wins against five losses and two ties with a series record advantage of 257 to 174. The North has taken six of the last eight games and another ended in a tie.

Other all-stars due to enter Ohio State are Joe Sparma of Massillon, the Northern quarterback; tackle Jim Beers of Toledo DeWitt; halfback Tony Hall of unbeaten Kettering Fairmont; center Dan Carter of Springfield's unbeaten Wildcats; end Keith Smith of Dayton Dunbar, and tackle Tom Jenkins of Dayton Chaminade.

End Al Grigalunas of Cleveland Benedictine is still wavering between Ohio State and Pittsburgh. Tennessee picked up two standouts in tackle Richard Evey of Springfield and end guard Ronald Foreman of Kettering Fairmont.

The North dominated the all-star game all the way. The Yankees had 18 first downs to the South's 10 and wasted few of them. Of the 18 first down, 14 were used in three scoring drives as the Northerners went 62 yards in seven tries, 52 in 11, and 79 in 13.

Mackall Has Key Role In Two Of Touchdowns

East Liverpool's Bob Mackall, who shared the quarterback job with Massillon's Joe Sparma, was instrumental in setting up two of the North's touchdowns in Saturday's game at Canton. On the drive for the opening score in the first quarter, Mackall ripped off a 14-yard gain to put the ball inside the South 20-yard line. Three plays later, Dick Gauch of Ashland shot over from the four.

In the second period, with Mackall in command of the North, the Yankees battled their way to the South 18-yard line. Mackall ran to the nine. A pass from Sparma to end Bob Cherry of Akron East put the ball on the two and halfback Don Kornowa of Toledo Woodward smashed over a play later for the North's second touchdown.

Mackall played both offense and defense. He intercepted a South pass at midfield in the last 15 seconds of the first half to stop a Rebel threat.

Mackall, who is headed for Northwestern University, was the first East Liverpool player to take part in the North-South All-Star contest since Jack Dopler was named to the 1957 team.

Indiana Boy, 11, Wins Soap Box Derby Title

AKRON, Ohio. (AP)—For the fourth year in a row, an Indiana boy has won the All America Soap Box Derby.

This time, in the 23rd running at Derby Downs Sunday it was 11-year-old Frederick Lake of South Bend. The little 80-pounder, making his first try, won a $5,000 college scholarship.

Last year, as in 1957, the winner was from Anderson, Ind., and two years ago a Muncie, Ind., boy took the top prize.

There were 168 of the streamlined gravity racers in the contest, and more than 60,000 persons witnessed the event.

Pairings Due At Meeting Of Loop Tonight

Shaughnessy playoffs of the City-County League, which were to have opened tonight, have been postponed pending a managerial parley tonight at 8:30 in Negley to decide official standings of the six teams.

Manager John Andrasen of Cox-Merchants of East Liverpool, the league's champion with a 15-5 record, said pairings for the best out of three and the best three out of five finals also will be made.

Besides Cox-Merchants, Salem, Lawrenceville, Chippewa, Negley and East Palestine will participate in the league's annual playoffs.

In an exhibition game Sunday at Steubenville, Cox-Merchants scored an 8-2 victory over Steubenville CIO, but in doing so lost its top hitter by injuries.

Centerfielder Bob Gessford, top swinger in the league with a sparkling .413 batting average, suffered a fractured ankle while sliding into third base in the sixth inning.

The leaf-off batter for Cox-Merchants, Gessford was detained in Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville, overnight and a cast was placed on the injured ankle. The injury will sideline him for the season.

The speedy outfielder collected one hit and scored a run in yesterday's action before being sidelined.

Veteran Dick Chamberlain went the distance for the Cox-Merchants nine, allowing Steubenville only four hits. The CIO squad was nearly a shutout victim as its pair of runs came in the seventh inning.

Chamberlain whiffed eight in besting Steubenville's Hornich, who was chased after three innings. Cox Merchants jammed four runs across in the third and added four more in the sixth.

Myers sparked Cox-Merchants' eight-hit attack with a double and triple in four trips to the plate. Jim Dickey, the strong-armed pitcher, moved to left field for the encounter and delivered a pair of singles for the city club.

Outfielder Lorin Howard, Andrasen and Burkhardt also collected singles for Cox-Merchants. Murrey led Steubenville with two singles.

Lima Takes Ohio Legion Baseball Title In 2 Games

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Lima will represent Ohio in the Region 5 American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament at Princeton, Ind., Aug. 17-22.

The Lima post won the Ohio championship Saturday by edging Cincinnati Bentley 4-3 in the second of two games it took to decide the title.

Lima was unbeaten and Cincinnati had taken one loss when they met earlier Saturday for the first championship round game in the two-defeats-and-out tourney. Bentley, five-time national Legion champs, stayed alive in that tilt by handing Lima its first tourney loss, 8-3.

That set the stage for the second contest which was tied up 1-1 when Lima came to bat in the bottom of the sixth inning and pounded across three runs that proved the final victory margin.

Cincinnati scored again with a run apiece in the seventh and eighth frames but couldn't come up with the tying run in the ninth.

The pitching victory went to Terry Ayers who gave up eight hits, walked one and struck out four in going all the way for Lima. His teammates also got eight hits.

The Little League championship of East Liverpool will be decided tonight at 7 at Myler Park, with Burbick Hardware and Golden Star Dairy the contenders.

Burbick's, the National League victor, and Golden Star, the American League winner, split the first two of a best-of-three series for the LL title.

Golden Star won the first game, 11-0, and Burbick's came back Friday night with a 5-2 victory. Chester American Legion won the city crown last year.

Jim Thorpe Honored At Indian Hall Of Fame

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — Jim Thorpe, the legendary Sac and Fox Indian who was acclaimed the outstanding athlete of the half century in 1950, entered the National Hall of Fame for American Indians Sunday.

About 250 persons, including representatives of 14 Indian tribes, attended the ceremonies at which a bronze bust of Thorpe was unveiled.

Thorpe, who died in Los Angeles of a heart attack in 1953 at the age of 64, played college football at Carlisle Institute in Pennsylvania. He won the pentathlon and decathlon in the 1912 Olympics and starred in both professional football and baseball.

Team's Speed Brings Praise From Brown

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Browns defeated the Detroit Lions in Detroit Saturday night to break their Briggs Stadium jinx, but the most pleasing factor for Coach Paul Brown was the speed shown by his team.

"We have a lot of young fellows with quickness," said the coach Sunday in looking back on the opener of the Browns' exhibition schedule. "They made mistakes but they were able to recover in a hurry. That speed is a very valuable thing."

The speed of Willmer Fowler, a rookie from Northwestern, and Ray Renfro, veteran receiver from North Texas State, enabled the Browns to score in the first few seconds against the Lions and they went on to a 28-14 victory. It was their first triumph in 10 games at Briggs Stadium.

Fowler took the opening kickoff back 60 yards and nearly broke into the clear to go all the way. Renfro then broke loose and took a 40-yard pass from Milt Plum to score a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage.

Plum threw for two more touchdowns in completing 14 of 18 passes for

Mantle Sent To Showers As Yankees Drop Doubleheader

Casey Angry; Orioles, Sox Tie For First

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox are deadlocked for the American League lead, but it's Casey Stengel who's fit to be tied.

An angry Stengel, his New York Yankees reduced to third place a half-game back after losing a double-header Sunday to the Washington Senators, sent Mickey Mantle to the showers in the sixth inning of the second game when the top-bracket center fielder failed to run out a ground ball.

The slow bouncer was converted into a double play and ended a rally by the Yanks, who had just tied it 1-all—and also had just lost slugger Roger Maris through injury.

"I took him out because he didn't run," Stengel snapped. "I'm tired of seeing him not run. If he can't run, he should tell me and I wouldn't put him out there."

Mantle, who singled twice in seven trips for his part of the record 7-hour and 58-minute twin-bill, denied that there was anything wrong with his chronically lame legs. "It wasn't my idea to come out," he said.

It was a frustrating afternoon and evening for Stengel and the Yanks, who lost the opener 5-4 on Camilo Pascual's first major league home run, a grand slam shot, then blew a ninth-inning lead and dropped the nightcap 6-3 in 15 innings.

Baltimore, after winning eight straight, lost 3-2 to Boston. That cost the Orioles a full share of first as the White Sox moved in with a 9-3 and 7-2 sweep over Kansas City. Cleveland dropped into a fourth-place tie with Washington after losing two to Detroit, 6-1 and 3-2.

The White Sox gave Billy Pierce and Early Wynn plenty of support in their sweep, swinging for 15 hits in the opener and 11 in the nightcap.

The Red Sox, who nailed two Orioles runners at the plate, blew a 2-0 lead on a two-run homer by Ron Hansen, who was 4-for-4, in the sixth. Then they cracked the tie in the seventh on a walk, Willie Tasby's single and Ted Williams' infield bouncer.

'Just Don't Know Yet,' Casey Says Of Action

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' $60,000 per year center fielder, is in trouble with Manager Casey Stengel. Just how seriously won't be known until tonight's crucial game with the first-place Baltimore Orioles at Yankee Stadium.

Stengel yanked Mantle in the second game of Sunday's double-header against Washington for committing the most grievous of on-field offenses — not running out a ground ball.

But the Yankee manager refused to say what action he planned to take.

"I just don't know yet," Casey said after the game. "I haven't told him about it yet. But I'm sick of watching him not run."

The Yanks lost the twinbill, 5-4 and 6-3 in 15 innings, and with it first place in the American League. The Orioles and Chicago White Sox are tied for first and Stengel's erstwhile leaders are one percentage point back in third place.

In the sixth inning, Mantle topped a bounder toward third which the Senator infield turned into an inning-ending doubleplay that also killed a Yankee rally that had tied the score 1-1. Most observers felt the swift Mantle could easily have beaten the relay throw to first base.

As Mantle waited for one of his mates to bring his glove, Stengel pulled him out.

"I took him out because he didn't run out the ball," growled Stengel. "In my opinion I know damn well he didn't run it out. There's no excuse for it unless a man is hurt."

Mantle said later that he thought there were two out. He wore a sheepish expression when he came into the Yankee dressing quarters. He said he wasn't hurt.

Mantle's teammates, hiding behind a cloak of anonymity, sided with Stengel.

"Maybe it'll wake him up," said one. "If he is hurt, that's one thing. But I don't think he's hurt and he'd certainly have beaten out that ball if he'd run. When you're making $60,000 you just can't do that in front of a crowd like that."

NFL Crowds Topping Rival

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old, established National Football League, preparing for its 41st season of action on the pro pigskin circuit, blitzed the new American League at the attendance gate in their first coast-to-coast test of strength.

Pushing its exhibition program into high gear over the weekend, the NFL drew 108,733 to five contests—an average of over 21,000.

The fledgling AFL, readying an eight-team loop for its opening season, attracted 26,796 for a three-game slate. That's an average of approximately 9,000.

The senior circuit also collared the largest crowd, 39,480 turning out at Los Angeles to see the Philadelphia Eagles strike in the second half for a 20-7 victory over the Rams.

In other NFL clashes, Green Bay beat Pittsburgh 20-13 at New Orleans; St. Louis defeated the Dallas Cowboys 20-13 at San Antonio, Tex.; Cleveland whacked the Lions 28-14 at Detroit and the 49ers overwhelmed Washington 31-7 at San Francisco.

The Dallas Texans remained undefeated in AFL pre-season play by whipping Boston 24-14 at Cambridge, Mass., for their third straight win. Oakland rallied for a 23-17 triumph over New York at Sacramento, Calif., and Buffalo thumped Denver 31-14 at Rochester, N. Y.

Ex-Ram Norm Van Brocklin passed for two second-half touchdowns as the Eagles turned three Los Angeles fumbles into scores. A 33-yard Van Brocklin to Tom McDougal aerial tied it 7-7 and Bobby Walston's 17-yard field goal in the third period but Philadelphia in front.

A 22-yard touchdown toss from Lamar McHan to Max McGee gave the Packers a 13-6 lead they never relinquished against the Steelers. Paul Hornung, the NFL's scoring champ last year, passed for one Green Bay TD, kicked two field goals and a pair of extra points.

Quarterback M. C. Reynolds drove 1 yard for the go-ahead touchdown as the recently shifted Cards, formerly of Chicago, won their first by edging the league's new Dallas entry.

Cleveland signal caller Milt Plum heaved three scoring strikes against the Lions as the Browns broke a 10-game losing string on Detroit home grounds.

Lenny Lyons took the opening kickoff, charged 92 yards for a touchdown and the 49ers never were headed. Y. A. Tittle passed for two scores—13 yards to R. C. Owens and 23 to Hugh McElhenry.

Abner Haynes carried four times for 40 yards and caught a 9-yard pass in the winning drive to spark the Texans in the first pro game ever played at Harvard Stadium. Jack Spikes' 23-yard field goal and a 27-yard flip from Cotton Davidson to Johnny Robinson were the payoff plays.

A 29-yard scoring scamper by Jack Larscheid and an 8-yard TD dash by Dean Philpott brought the Raiders from behind in the final quarter against the Titans. New York had taken a 14-7 lead in the second period when Pete Hart went over from the 1 to cap an 81-yard drive.

Tommy O'Connell scored once and fired a pair of TD heaves in the Bills' rout of Denver. The former NFL star hit Dick Brubaker from 30 yards out and connected with a 14-yarder to Norm King after his own score on a 1-yard sneak.

At Springfield Course 214 Begin Firing In Ohio Open Bid

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Open Golf Championship, its beginnings shrouded in the mist of time, was on again today at Springfield's Snyder Park course. Records go back only to 1923 when Steve Zappe triumphed at won the classic. Maurice McCarthy did it in 1944, Frank Stranahan in 1948, Jack Nicklaus as a 16-year-old in 1956, and Bob Shave in 1958.

McCarthy was a former international collegiate champion, Stranahan won the Western Amateur four times and is now one of the bright stars of the professional trail, and Nicklaus won the National Amateur a year ago.

Other greats who have won the Ohio Open are Denny Shute of Akron, former British Open and two-time national PGA champion; Billy Burke of Cleveland, the 1931 National Open king; Byron Nelson, former National Open and PGA champion; Herman Keiser of Akron, former winner of the Masters tournament; Phil Perkins of Cleveland, one-time winner of the British Amateur, and the late Al Espinosa of Akron, who tied Bob Jones for the 1929 National Open and then lost in the big tournament's most one-sided playoff, 141 to 164 in 36 holes.

Lee Raymond of Toledo, a professional who was working in an industrial plant, won the title a year ago and is defending his championship.

The field plays 18 holes today, 18 Tuesday and the low 60 and ties go into Wednesday's 36-hole closing marathon for the 37th championship.

Highland Golf Course Will Be Closed Tuesday

The Highland Country Club golf course in Glenmore will be closed Tuesday because of a death in the family, Doug Capehart, owner of the nine-hole course, said today.

Cincinnati, accepted the professional job at Springfield Country Club and remained there for probably the longest one-club tenure of any pro in America.

Some of the oldtimers who have trod the tournament trail say the open was held before 1923 but no one can name the winners.

Certain it is, however, that since they started writing down the names, some of America's greatest golfers have won the Buckeye laurels.

The current field of 214—made up of 109 amateurs and 105 professionals—could well contain another future great.

Silver Song Wins U.S. Trotting Title Over Ohio Horse

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — Steam' Demon, owned by George W. Van Camp of Circleville, Ohio, was edged out by Silver Song in the $50,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Losing by half a length wasn't the only embarrassment for Steam' Demon, the favorite. The judges disqualified the Circleville horse for pacing, instead of trotting, through the stretch — and placed him last.

Silver Song, owned by Wayne Galvin of Wilmington, Ohio, and Ray Foster of Lima, Ohio, finished fifth in the field of eight. Senator Frost, disqualified winner of last season's American Trotting Championship, expended all his energy battling Air Record for the lead from the halfway mark to the top of the stretch.

Dick Buxton, Senator Frost's driver, said racing luck beat him as he was unable to steer his 5-year-old gelding into a clear lead while being forced to race on the outside.

Silver Song, a 5-year-old bay, by virtue of winning earned the right to represent the United States in next Saturday's $50,000 Roosevelt International.

To pick up his fourth victory of the season in 10 starts, Silver Song came from last in the field at the half-mile mark, edged to sixth place at the head of the stretch and overtook Steam' Demon in the final 50 yards to win in 2:53 2-5 and pay $13.40 as the fourth choice.

U.S. Expected To Steal Show

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP)—A record-shattering United States team, with world record possibilities in 14 of the 22 events, is expected to dominate the men's track and field competition of the Olympic Games.

The rival Soviet Union lacks a single championship certainty. The dark horse is the combined German team.

The Soviet hopes lie in the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs, won by Vladimir Kuts in 1956 but not defended, the marathon and the 20,000 and 50,000 meter walks.

A rash of record performance in pre-Olympic meets has made the Americans favorites to improve on their 1956 collection of 28 medals in men's track and field. The Soviets probably will fall below their 14.

The United States apparently has certainties in such events as the high jump, pole vault, broad jump, hammer throw and shot put.

John Thomas, who leaps seven feet without a warmup and who has done a record 7-3/4 is the surest thing in the games, barring injury. Don Bragg (15-9/4) is best of three 15-foot U.S. pole vaulters.

Ralph Boston's broad jump of 26 feet, 11 1/2 inches, bettering Jesse Owens' longtime record, makes him a favorite over the German doctor, Manfred Steinhilber who had a similar record-topping effort nullified by the wind.

The United States could sweep the shot put with Bill Bieder (65-10), defending champion Parry O'Brien and Dallas Long. England's Arthur Rowe could prevent the sweep. Hal Connolly, with a new world record of 230-9 should keep his hammer title.

Thompson Quits Auto Speed Try As Control Fails

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah. (AP) — America's speed king, Mickey Thompson of El Monte, Calif., got his car up to about 320 miles per hour but felt he was losing control. So he quit rather than chance a fatal crash in his try for the magical 400 m.p.h. mark Sunday.

On Aug. 1, Salt Lake City mechanic Athol Graham got his car up to about 300 m.p.h. when he lost control, crashed and was killed. Thompson was watching at the time.

Sunday Thompson said he was unable to maintain even traction when he started to accelerate with his 3,000-horsepower Challenger I on these western Utah flats. The car started to swing from side to side.

"I knew I would lose control if I continued to accelerate," he said. He was obviously disappointed. "This year," he said, "I've got the horsepower that it takes for 400 miles per hour or better. But I've got to have control."

Natch, Mister, 'No M' Means 'No Meters'

GREENVILLE, S. C. — A sandwich shop operator was filling a list of take-out orders for a group of office workers. Beside one sandwich order he came upon the notation: "no M."

He asked the messenger if this meant no mayonnaise or no mustard.

"No, sir," came the answer, "it means that she don't want no 'meters'."

Indians Drop Fifth Straight Twin Contest

CLEVELAND (AP) — Play 'em one at a time. No doubleheaders, please!

The Cleveland Indians could echo those words with meaning. They have lost five straight twin-bills, the latest being the 6-1 and 3-2 setbacks to the Detroit Tigers Sunday.

Sinking down, down, down, the Indians now are in the second division for the first time since the early days of the season. The Washington Senators, skipping merrily along on the wings of a doubleheader sweep over the New York Yankees, hopped over the Indians and into fourth place on points—4954 to 4953.

The double loss sent Cleveland below the .500 mark at 53-54. Just a little more than five weeks ago — on July 5 — the Indians were in second place with a 42-28 record. Only 11 victories in 37 games resulted in the sad plunge.

The only thing that could be said for the Indians Sunday was that they ended the misery in a hurry. They completed the first game in two hours and 12 minutes, then sped through the nightcap in the fastest time of the season at the Stadium—one hour and 52 minutes.

Paul Foytack and Hank Aguirre limited the Indians to three hits in the nightcap after Bill Fischer went the distance to beat them in the opener on five scattered hits.

Foytack had a perfect game through the first seven innings except for a leadoff single by rookie Mike de la Hoz in the third. He weakened in the eighth and gave up a single to leadoff batter Jim Piersall. When Tito Francona followed with a home run over the right field fence, Aguirre relieved and retired the next six batters.

The victory was the second in nine decisions for Foytack, who was on the disabled list with a sore shoulder until a few days ago. It was his first victory since April 24.

Rocky Colavito hit two home runs—one in each game—to push his season's total to 24. Charlie Maxwell also hit a homer in the nightcap and drove in another run with a single. Colavito has hit six of his homers in Municipal Stadium—in only 10 games.

Barry Lantieri hurled the first six innings of the second game and suffered his fourth loss in five decisions. Don Newcombe limited the Tigers to one hit in the last three innings.

Cleveland errors cost three unearned runs in the first three innings of the opener and Detroit added another in the fourth on a walk, a single and a double. Their other two runs came on back-to-back homers by Steve Bilko and Colavito in the fifth.

Cleveland scored its run in the sixth. Ken Aspromonte singled, advanced to third on a double by Harvey Kuenn and scored on a play at first base.

Fischer, formerly with Washington, made his first start for the Tigers and registered his fourth victory in 10 decisions. The loser was starter Dick Stigman, who now has four games and lost eight. Jim Grant pitched the last four innings for the Indians, blanking the Tigers on one hit.

Fred Clarke Dies In Kansas At 87

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP) — Fredrick Clifford Clarke, 87, one of baseball's greatest outfielders, died Sunday night of pneumonia. He was the oldest member of the Hall of Fame.

As player-manager, he led the Pittsburgh Pirates to four National League pennants and a world championship in 16 seasons. His club finished second five times and was in the second division only twice. He spent 22 years in the big leagues.

Clarke's batting average in his major league career was .315. After two years in the minors, he joined Louisville, then in the National League, in 1894. Three years later he became the club's manager at 24.

Louisville and Pittsburgh merged in 1900 and Clarke went to the Pirates as manager, along with Honus Wagner, Chief Bender, Rube Waddell, Tommy Leach, Claude Ritchey, Deacon Phillippe and Pat Flaherty.

The year before, the Pirates had finished seventh. Clarke lifted them to second in 1900, and the next three years won the pennant.

Clarke's greatest triumph came in 1909 when the Pirates beat the Detroit Tigers and the great Ty Cobb four games to three in the World Series. Clarke hit two home runs in that series.

He retired in 1915 and in later years would say with pride, "I was in baseball 22 years and I was never released."

Clarke lived on his 1,320-acre "Little Pirate Ranch" near Winfield. He sponsored sandlot baseball in Winfield, and served non-pro baseball for 10 years as national president of leagues.

Toronto Star's Long Dash Brings Stars 7-6 Victory

By The Associated Press

The West Virginia All-Stars lost their 11th game to Eastern Ohio standouts of last football season and the Kanawha Valley East All-Stars used long gainers to beat their western counterparts in scholastic summertime games Saturday night.

The Wheeling game went to Eastern Ohio, 7-6, on a 76-yard, up-the-middle touchdown scamper by George Fisher of Toronto and a drop-kicked extra point by John Bellopatric of Mingo.

A 99-yard kickoff return by Chaucey Robinson of DuPont and a 46-yard touchdown pass featured the East's 21-7 conquest of the West All-Stars in the first Kanawha Valley Senior Bowl clash in Charleston.

The West Virginians scored early in the first quarter of the Wheeling game. The Mountaineers marched 55 yards, with Ace Lyle of Paden City banging to inside the one and Parkersburg's Mike Hayden plunging for the touchdown.

The extra point try by Lyle was blocked by Dave Nardo of Bellaire St. John's.

West Virginia completely dominated the game for three periods, holding the Buckeyes to one first down and a total of 30 yards. But Fisher found his hole over center with 5 minutes, 28 seconds gone by in the final quarter.

Larry Sizemore of Steubenville set a record with a 66-yard punt. Quarterback Larry Myers of DuPont passed four yards to Charleston end Dana Smith to climax a 41-yard East drive early in the second quarter of the Kanawha Valley contest.

Robinson, state 100-yard dash champion, returned the second half kickoff 99 yards for a second East TD and Myers capped a 68-yard drive in the third quarter with another payoff pass to Earl Smith of East Bank.

The West scored in the fourth quarter when Dale Harkins of Stonewall Jackson galloped 47 yards for a touchdown.

Two more scholastic all-star contests remain in the state before the start of public schools.

Williamson will have its Kiwanis Senior Bowl game Friday, featuring Southern West Virginia standouts against a team from neighboring Kentucky.

Another group of Southern West Virginia stars will collide with Southwest Virginia standouts in Bluefield Saturday night.

Two Veterans Hold Spotlight

By The Associated Press

A couple of baseball veterans hogged the spotlight in the International League Sunday.

Montreal's Nelson Chittum came within two strikes of a no-hitter in pitching the Royals to a 6-0 victory over Miami in the seven inning nightcap of a doubleheader. Miami won the first game 5-3.

Ken Lehman, one of Buffalo's starting pitchers, came on in relief to bail out Taylor Phillips and save a 3-2 Bison victory over Columbus after the Jets won the opener of a doubleheader 6-3.

Richmond and Rochester split, Richmond taking a 9-4 nightcap victory after the Red Wings won the first game 8-7 on Luke Easter's pinch grand slam home run. League-leader Toronto lost to Jersey City 6-1 then got the nightcap in an extra inning, 3-2.

Chittum had one strike on Joe Caffie when the Miami infielder singled through the box. Ron Sanford followed with another hit before Chittum retired the side. Joe Altobelli hit his 30th homer for the Royals.

Lehman took over with two on and none out in the ninth and retired the side without a score, fanning one batter and getting Tom Burgess to hit into a doubleplay. Lou Vassie's sixth inning homer with a man on won for Buffalo against Bob Veale. Columbus got 11 hits in the opener, six for extra bases.

Two Sisters Use The Old Heave-Ho For Stone Homes

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — Meet two ladies with a lot of heave and ho.

Middle-aged sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Fuchs and Mrs. Sarah Hyatt, have turned a knack for rocks and cement into not one, not two, but half a dozen hand-built stone houses.

Their handiwork, along with assorted outbuildings, stands sturdily on the farm of their 88-year-old parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Richardson.

Dorothy built most of her own fieldstone house. Sarah recently put together singlehanded a 30-by-60 foot garage and workshop.

The sisters also have laid concrete walks and installed stone fireplaces and planter boxes for their families. Their father taught them how to use leverage to haul and lift heavy stones.

To get big rocks into high positions, they lean a plank against the right spot and work the stone upward on it and into place.

Sporting News Picks Williams Player Of Decade

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Sporting News has chosen Ted Williams as the "Player of the Decade." In this case, the award was based on performances over the five-year period from 1956 to 1960.

The 41-year-old Boston Red Sox slugger and all-time American League great had practically no opposition for the award, the Sporting News said.

Williams is the second player to receive the "Player of the Decade" award. The first was Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who won out over Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Bob Feller in 1955.

Publisher J. G. Taylor Spink said hereafter the decade award will be made every 10 years, starting in 1970.

Man, 78, Should Make Hospital His Home

MEMPHIS (AP) — Jeanius Blackburn, 78, figures he holds the world's record for hospital visits as a patient.

For 27 years he's made almost daily visits to the emergency room at Municipal Hospital for treatment of a severe case of asthma. Sometimes he goes two or more times a day.

"Guess I've been to the hospital about 10,000 times," Blackburn says. "Hope I can make it 10,000 more."

Akron Man Faces Murder Trial In Child's Kidnaping

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A first-degree murder charge was to be filed today against Ronald (Sarge) Fenton, 27, of suburban Lakemore. Police say he has admitted he beat and killed a one-year-old baby after a sexual attack.

Summit County Prosecutor John S. Ballard said Fenton will be arraigned in Police Court on a charge of murder in the course of a kidnaping.

Fenton admitted, detectives said, that he snatched little Joanne Starcher from her parents' unlocked apartment in East Akron early last Wednesday.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Starcher, reported their infant daughter missing at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The infant's body was sighted floating on a pond in southern Summit County Thursday night. Then Saturday at noon Fenton walked into the Akron police station and said he was the man detectives were looking for.

Police said he told them he had assaulted the child near the pond, then pounded her head against the steering wheel of his car when she began crying.

Nixon Directs Vote Drive At Deeper South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is getting ready for some quick dashes into the South that will carry him into states seldom visited by Republican presidential candidates.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, his Democratic opponent, will start his Southern campaign by crossing the Potomac River to Alexandria, Va., on Aug. 24.

Nixon already has scheduled a trip Wednesday to Greensboro, N.C. He once was a graduate student at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, said he is urging Nixon to make flying trips to Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Virginia during the abbreviated session of Congress.

"If he is going to visit all of the states he has got to get going as soon as possible," Morton said.

The GOP chairman said he expects the campaign visits to the Deep South to be one-shot affairs. But he said he thinks Nixon will want to pay return calls to such states as Florida, Texas, North Carolina and Virginia.

Nixon's dates, like those of Kennedy, are all being made contingent on what the Senate is doing at the time. Kennedy doesn't want to get caught short on an important vote. Nixon doesn't want to miss any chance to break a tie vote or to hand down an important ruling as presiding officer.

While some senators have said it will be impossible to get a legislative program through for an adjournment before Labor Day, it is obvious both presidential candidates are pushing hard in that direction.

Kennedy already has announced plans to campaign in Hawaii, accompanied by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, on a tour starting Sept. 3.

Meeting Set Tuesday In Strike At East Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — All was quiet today as the strike against the East Ohio Gas Co. moved into its second week.

A federal mediator has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday between company representatives and negotiators for the 2,800 striking independent Natural Gas Workers Union members.

"We have done everything in our power to settle the strike," the president of the union, John D. Nagle, said Sunday.

His statement was in response to one by a company spokesman, which said the union has "no intention of settling the strike on any terms at this time."

The name of Bedloe's Island, site of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, was changed to Liberty Island in 1956.

Proper Diet Provides Best Weight For Life

How wonderful to have slimmed down and lost that bulky feeling through the middle! For a few of you, the past two weeks' slimming may be all that's needed. For others, well, being in half done. If you are still toting considerable excess pounds, stay with the scientific pattern of eating.

By Ida Jean Kain

It was Thoreau who gave this sage counsel: "If any man will keep advancing confidently in the direction of his dreams, he will one day achieve success unexpected in common hours." You can bank on that promise. Keep on the course and one fine day you will reach the weight zone within which your weight is right. Desirable weight is the weight which favors long life and good health. What an insurance policy!

YOU KNOW NOW that you do not need to half starve in order to reduce ... or to follow faddy, monotonous fare. With the science of nutrition it is possible to eat well, lose weight, and feel fit.

Regardless of how many pounds you need to reduce, the protective slimming pattern can be followed until you get down to your right weight. In short, the protective plan furnishes perfect nutrition — the shortage is in calories only.

Dieters, it will help enormously

NEVER DELIBERATELY enlarge your food capacity. At the finish of two weeks on smaller meals, you will not want anything like the quantities of food you formerly craved. By continuing to take modest servings you can keep your appetite under control.

Secondly, appreciate the role exercise plays in helping you to stay slim. Toned muscles discourage a return of fat. Use your muscles and you will stay shapely.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart" and "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Akron Man Faces Murder Trial In Child's Kidnaping

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A first-degree murder charge was to be filed today against Ronald (Sarge) Fenton, 27, of suburban Lakemore. Police say he has admitted he beat and killed a one-year-old baby after a sexual attack.

Summit County Prosecutor John S. Ballard said Fenton will be arraigned in Police Court on a charge of murder in the course of a kidnaping.

Fenton admitted, detectives said, that he snatched little Joanne Starcher from her parents' unlocked apartment in East Akron early last Wednesday.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Starcher, reported their infant daughter missing at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The infant's body was sighted floating on a pond in southern Summit County Thursday night. Then Saturday at noon Fenton walked into the Akron police station and said he was the man detectives were looking for.

Police said he told them he had assaulted the child near the pond, then pounded her head against the steering wheel of his car when she began crying.

Nixon Directs Vote Drive At Deeper South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is getting ready for some quick dashes into the South that will carry him into states seldom visited by Republican presidential candidates.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, his Democratic opponent, will start his Southern campaigning by crossing the Potomac River to Alexandria, Va., on Aug. 24.

Nixon already has scheduled a trip Wednesday to Greensboro, N.C. He once was a graduate student at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, said he is urging Nixon to make flying trips to Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Virginia during the abbreviated session of Congress.

"If he is going to visit all of the states he has got to get going as soon as possible," Morton said.

The GOP chairman said he expects the campaign visits to the Deep South to be one-shot affairs. But he said he thinks Nixon will want to pay return calls to such states as Florida, Texas, North Carolina and Virginia.

Nixon's dates, like those of Kennedy, are all being made contingent on what the Senate is doing at the time. Kennedy doesn't want to get caught short on an important vote. Nixon doesn't want to miss any chance to break a tie vote or to hand down an important ruling as presiding officer.

While some senators have said it will be impossible to get a legislative program through for an adjournment before Labor Day, it is obvious both presidential candidates are pushing hard in that direction.

Kennedy already has announced plans to campaign in Hawaii, accompanied by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, on a tour starting Sept. 3.

Meeting Set Tuesday In Strike At East Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — All was quiet today as the strike against the East Ohio Gas Co. moved into its second week.

A federal mediator has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday between company representatives and negotiators for the 2,800 striking independent Natural Gas Workers Union members.

"We have done everything in our power to settle the strike," the president of the union, John D. Nagle, said Sunday.

His statement was in response to one by a company spokesman, which said the union has "no intention of settling the strike on any terms at this time."

The name of Bedloe's Island, site of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, was changed to Liberty Island in 1956.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Proper Diet Provides Best Weight For Life

How wonderful to have slimmed down and lost that bulky feeling through the middle! For a few of you, the past two weeks' slimming may be all that's needed. For others, well, begun is half done. If you are still toting considerable excess pounds, stay with the scientific pattern of eating.

It was Thoreau who gave this sage counsel: "If any man will keep advancing confidently in the direction of his dreams, he will one day achieve success unexpected in common hours." You can bank on that promise. Keep on the course and one fine day you will reach the weight zone within which your weight is right. Desirable weight is the weight which favors long life and good health. What an insurance policy!

YOU KNOW NOW that you do not need to half starve in order to reduce ... or to follow faddy, monotonous fare. With the science of nutrition it is possible to eat well, lose weight, and feel fit.

Regardless of how many pounds you need to reduce, the protective slimming pattern can be followed until you get down to your right weight. In short, the protective plan furnishes perfect nutrition — the shortage is in calories only.

Dieters, it will help enormously

NEVER DELIBERATELY enlarge your food capacity. At the finish of two weeks on smaller meals, you will not want anything like the quantities of food you formerly craved. By continuing to take modest servings you can keep your appetite under control.

Secondly, appreciate the role exercise plays in helping you to stay slim. Toned muscles discourage a return of fat. Use your muscles and you will stay shapeless.

The successful bidder shall not sublet, assign or sell any portion of this work without the written consent of the Division Deputy Director of Highways. Such permission if granted, with reference to subcontractors, shall not relieve the original successful bidder of his responsibility.

The following additional conditions will apply to the removal operations unless specific exceptions are noted elsewhere in the "Item-Parcel" description section of this "Notice."

A. Permits shall be secured from the proper public authority before removal work may be started. The successful bidder must determine whether all utilities have been properly disconnected in compliance with local requirements.

B. The removal of the structure or structures listed herein shall be to ground level and will include the cleanup of all resulting materials and debris from the site, basements and surrounding ground. All concrete floor slabs, not including garage floors, at ground level or under which a basement exists will be broken and removed.

C. In the event there are holes under or adjacent to any of the structures removed, the successful bidder shall construct temporary barricades around such openings.

D. Removal of the structures in the item from highway right of way must be completed not later than 30 days after the written notice of removal operations is received by the Division Highway Office.

E. S. PRESTON, Director of Highways

TIRED, ACHING FEET!

FREE
FOOT TEST

Many times, tired, aching feet and other common foot troubles are caused by weak or fallen arches. This may be your problem! Come in, and let us take a Podo-graph test of your stockinged feet. It graphically reveals any unequal weight distribution or arch depression you may have. Our trained attendants will then demonstrate how the correct Dr. Scholl's Arch Support, properly fitted, can give you quick, satisfying relief!

Nixon Campaign Slated In Beaver

The Nixon-Lodge campaign in Beaver County was launched Thursday evening with the organization of the Beaver County Chapter of the Nixon Club. Atty. James E. Rowley, former Aliquippa Republican chairman and candidate for the assembly four years ago, was appointed chairman by the headquarters of the Nixon Club of Pennsylvania. Other officers were named. The voluntary group is one of hundreds forming over the country and will work separately from the regular Republican group, Rowley said. The club will be financially independent and will raise its own funds. It will co-operate with the regular GOP. Membership goal of the club is 1,000 at $1 each. Names of area chairmen will be announced, Rowley said, and the headquarters site will be chosen within the week. Nixon booths will be operated at the Hookstown and North Sewickley fairs.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

- Q. How can I discourage moths and silverfish in my rugs?
A. These pests have a heavy dislike for printer's ink, and you can capitalize on this by spreading layers of newspapers under your rugs. Put the papers between the rug and the pad, if you have one — if not, use a heavy layer of newspapers and it will serve as a cushion, too.
- Q. How can I prevent screws from working loose in plastered walls?
A. Make a tiny opening in the plaster where you wish to drive your screw, then fill this with some plastic wood. Drive your screw in while the wood is still soft.
- Q. How can I remove daubs and splashes of paint on some of my window glass?
A. Easy! Just rub gently over these spots with some fine steel wool.
